

TAKE 4 FOR LOONEY SLAYING

TAX REDUCTION TO WAIT A YEAR, IS THE PROGRAM

Results of Present Law to Be Studied.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Postponement of tax reduction or any extensive revision of revenue law until the regular session of congress convening in December, 1925, is the definite program of the administration.

This was indicated today following a conference between President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in which the tax situation was discussed.

Secretary Mellon, it was learned, has been advised by tax experts in the treasury that it would be unwise to attempt any further changes in tax rates until after information is available showing the actual effect of the new rates of the revenue act of 1924.

Await Results of Present Law.

Because no satisfactory data showing to what extent the present law will cut revenues will be available before the end of the calendar year 1925, Secretary Mellon has been informed that it would be folly to take with the present law during the coming winter or at a special session in the spring.

Due to this situation the administration will be inclined to oppose any movement for a further cut of 25 per cent in individual income taxes during the coming session of congress. Possibility of a horizontal reduction of this sort to apply to income taxes paid next March on earnings of the calendar year 1924 was suggested today by Senator Reed (Utah), chairman of the senate finance committee.

Coolidge Defers to Mellon.

President Coolidge is on record for a further tax reduction at the earliest opportunity. He will reiterate his advocacy of such action in his annual message to congress in December. In view of the information furnished him by Secretary Mellon, however, he will not press for action at the coming session of congress, and he has no present intention of convening the new congress in special session in the spring.

Secretary Mellon has practically completed his annual report, which will be presented to congress the first week in December. In this report he renews his advocacy of lower surtax rates and lower estate taxes, and expresses opposition to publicity of amounts paid by taxpayers as provided in the 1924 act, and to full publicity of tax returns as advocated by the radicals in congress.

No Effect at Short Session.

In restating his views on tax legislation, however, Secretary Mellon has no intention of insisting upon action at the coming short session, inasmuch as the same combination of radical Republicans and Democrats which dominated the last session will still be in control and any attempt to press administration tax bills might prove disastrous.

In advising Secretary Mellon that any changes in tax rates before December, 1925, would be unwise, treasury tax experts have pointed out that the new rates on individual income become effective for the first time on taxes paid next March. The new law provided a retroactive cut of 25 per cent on taxes paid last March, but the permanent rates may have a different influence on revenues than anticipated.

Guard Against Deficit.

The first figures showing the results will be available next March, and the income tax payments in June, September, and December of 1925 will complete the record for the first year of the operation of the new law.

In opposing any flat cut of 25 per cent or less at the coming short session of congress, applicable on top of the reductions already made effective next March, treasury officials estimate that such action might reduce revenues by $60,000,000 or more. While a surplus looked for at the end of the present fiscal year, there are several uncertainties in the situation and treasury officials believe further tax reduction should be deferred for a year.

Senator Smoot, commenting today on the possibility of a 25 per cent cut this winter, made it plain that such a move was contingent on the condition of the treasury. He said that it would be wise to attempt a general revision of the revenue laws at the short session and that he did not see any possibility of repealing the present publicity provisions while the present congress remained in power.

The internal revenue bureau issued today regulations relating to the income tax provisions of the revenue act of 1924.

TEACHERS LOSE COUNCIL FIGHT TO M'ANDREW

Board Backs Him by 6 to 1 Vote.

Superintendent William McAndrew's long fight to compel teachers to meet after school hours at his or the principal's direction resulted in a victory for him yesterday.

The board by a vote of six to one concurred in his program. As a result of the action school teachers will meet after classes have been dismissed whenever the superintendent or principal wants to discuss school problems.

The board gave the teachers the privilege of using the school-house once a week after school hours to hold meetings of their own at which neither principals nor representatives of the superintendent will be present.

Long, Bitter Campaign.

The campaign to give Superintendent McAndrew this authority has been long and bitter. On one side was the Chicago Teachers' Federation and on the other Superintendent McAndrew and a majority of the board members.

His recommendation came immediately after he had succeeded in abolishing meetings of teachers' councils during school hours.

On two occasions the board was obliged to defer action on the proposition for lack of a majority to support it. Several committee meetings were held to hear protests from teachers' organizations, but the teachers refused to talk because the superintendent was not present. After three sessions were held, and Superintendent McAndrew had failed to appear the committee voted nonconcurrence. Yesterday his supporters mustered six votes and adopted the measure. Those voting for it were President Moderwell, Miss Grace Temple, Earl Hanson, J. F. Smetanka, W. K. Fellows, and James E. Greenbaum. Trustee Mullerbach opposed it.

New Rule for Principals.

While the majority was present they also voted to require these holding principals' certificates to take new examinations every six years unless holders are appointed to principalships in the interim.

This regulation was recommended by the superintendent as part of his efficiency program to insure principals abreast of educational progress. Action on this proposition had also been deferred at two previous meetings because of its lack of support.

President Moderwell read to the board a letter from the Woman's City club expressing full confidence in Mr. McAndrew's ability and urging that he be given "the highest authority in his school administration, unhampered by the action of his subordinates."

Shakeup in Architect's Office.

Reorganization of the bureau of architecture and repairs by John E. Brynes, business manager, to speed up school building has caused a clash between the business manager and President Moderwell.

Convinced that the supervisory architect, Edgar Martin, is not progressing satisfactorily with the work, Mr. Brynes reorganized the departments and placed John Christensen, architect for the board prior to Mr. Martin's election, in charge.

President Moderwell and Trustee William K. Fellows, an architect, who sponsored Martin, demanded that the business manager rescind his order, but he refused to do so. "He is being backed by a majority of the board, who have complained of the slow progress in these departments since Mr. Martin has been in charge."

Brynes Accepts Authority.

"I am responsible for these departments according to the rules of the board," Mr. Brynes said. "I believe Mr. Martin should spend more time in the field supervising construction and not interfere with department heads. I have issued orders that this should be done, and I intend to stand by them."

Mr. Martin before accepting the present post was Gov. Small's state architect at a salary of $4,000 a year. His present salary is $10,000.

2 DIE, 12 HURT IN MYSTERY BLAST AT POSTOFFICE

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 12.—Two men were killed, one is dying, and twelve are injured as the result of a terrific explosion which late today destroyed the loading dock and receiving room at the main Grand Rapids postoffice, with a property damage of $50,000.

Those who were killed were Ernest A. Roth, 30, a truck driver, and Herman Petersen, 47, a clerk.

The theory that a bomb caused the explosion was advanced by Postoffice Inspectors Swain A. McSwain and A. W. Alexander. Gas had been scented by employees on the platform for two days, but gas company officials said the exploding gas would not have shattered the roof of the dock.

Petersen and Roth were on the loading platform at the time of the explosion, which sent fragments of the platform a hundred feet into the air; hurled a loading truck onto the air; federal building roof, buried five automobiles, and shattered hundreds of windows within a radius of two blocks.

Lloyd George Challenged to Duel by 'Tiger'

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Thursday.

[United News.]—Georges Clemenceau, former premier of France, challenged David Lloyd George to a duel with either pistols or swords during the Versailles peace conference, according to a book published today by Wickham Stead, former editor of the London Times.

Clemenceau flatly accused Lloyd George of repeated inaccuracies in his statements. Lloyd George rose and asked Clemenceau by the collar, demanding an apology. Stead declares.

Woodrow Wilson separated the two statesmen. Then Clemenceau offered Lloyd George satisfaction either with swords or pistols as soon as Lloyd George had resided in France long enough to acquire a domicile there.

Clemenceau's Opinion of Wilson.

Stead's book, which he has named "Through Thirty Years," is full of reminiscences of "inside stuff" with which the famous editor has come in contact in the last three decades.

On another occasion which Stead describes in his book the editor suggested to Clemenceau that he talk to President Wilson in order to learn exactly what Wilson expected the peace conference to accomplish.

"Talk to Wilson!" Clemenceau exclaimed. "How can I talk to a fellow who thinks himself the first man for two thousand years who has known anything about peace on earth?"

"Imagine his Second Messiah," Wilson imagines he is the second Messiah. He believes he has been sent to give peace to the world and that his preconceived notions are the only notions worth having. I have done everything to gratify him. I received him at the foot of the staircase as though he were the king of England, but still he is unsatisfied.

"The Tiger" added that talk was futile, as they would never be able to reach an understanding.

TOKYO, Nov. 12.—"International communism, basins, Russian soviet bands!" screamed Daikoku Nambu would-be assassin of the prince regent when he was asked if he had anything to say when sentenced to death in special court this morning.

The court was thrown into the wildest confusion. A crowd gathered at the Supreme court building at 4 this morning, these holding admission tickets and hundreds of others. Police guard and mounted officers kept every one in the crowd under the closest surveillance, searching every one who was admitted. Apparently the police suspected an outbreak of some form. Nambu's sentence is hanging within five days after the minister of justice issues the order. Prior to the outbreak in court today Nambu had been expressing the utmost contrition for the crime unprecedented in the history of Japan and vowing his eagerness to meet death in execution.

In $10,000 Casket Dean Lies in State

BY MAUREEN M'KERNAN.

Last night Dean O'Banion lay in state. His couch was a casket priced, with a touch of pride, at $10,000. There were candles at its head, candles at its feet; a rosary lay in the soft, tapered hands that could finger an automatic so skillfully.

In the soft light of the candles at the head of this $10,000 casket sat Mrs. O'Banion, a picture of patient sorrow. Beside her sat the father and step-mother of the dead O'Banion. And softly treading, dully changing places, were well formed gentlemen in tailored garments, with square blue steel jaws and shifting glances. They were the sentinels. For a brief moment Mrs. O'Banion left her post to tell a reporter of the O'Banion she knew. But that shall come later.

Sent by Special Freight.

First it is necessary to paint the picture of this state in which O'Banion lay. It is in the chapel of the St. Barbara undertaking rooms at 708 North Wells street. The casket was "the best that money could buy." Its designers had in Pennsylvania sent it here in a special express car that carried only the casket for freight.

It was the finest and the handsomest casket that Mrs. Viola O'Banion could find. No ordinary coffin supplied for the rest in peace of Dean O'Banion. Solid silver, bronze, double walls, inner enameled, and studded with a heavy plate glass above and a couch of white satin below, with tufted cushion extra, for his left hand to rest on.

At the corners of the casket are solid silver posts, carved in viceroyal designs. Modest is the dignified, every gray of the casket, content with the austere glory of the silver, silver posts at its corners, and broken only by a scroll across one side which reads: "Dean O'Banion, 1873-1924."

Silver angels stood at the head and feet with their heads bowed in the light of the ten candles that burned in the solid golden candlesticks they held in their hands. Beneath the casket, the marble slab that supports its glory, is the inscription: "Suffer little child to climb unto me." And, over it all, the perfume of flowers.

But, vying with that perfume was the fragrance of perfumed women, wrapped in furs from ears to ankles, who tiptoed down the aisle, escorted by more soft stepping, tall gentlemen with black, shining pompadours.

Now and then a shabby old woman came along, too, to look at O'Banion as he lay in his silver home, her face locally seamed, her hair and tufted satin splendor. At the doorway to the chapel, those who would pay their last respects to Mr. O'Banion were stopped by more dignified, softer gentlemen who scrutinized each face and held up restraining hands to those who sought to enter the chapel with unseemly haste.

Thus Lay O'Banion.

Thus Dean O'Banion lay last night, as he reposed in the lights from the hands of the angels, with his rosary softly pressed in his hand.

Just as gentle a picture was his widow when for a moment she slipped away from her praying at the head of the casket to tell a reporter about the kind of man her Dean had been.

LOVE, FIRST SIGHT

Viola Kaniff had been attending a school in Iowa the winter she was 12, but she came home for the holidays. At a Christmas dance she met Dean O'Banion, who was then a truck driver. Such a gentleman, and so pleasant had he been, it was love at first sight.

Seven months later the girl, a little slip of a thing with yellow hair and blue eyes, was married by Father Quigley to O'Banion in Our Lady of Sorrows church, where she had all her life.

ARREST EDITOR, OTHER CITIZENS, AT ROCK ISLAND

Secrets of Vice Feud Are Revealed.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 12.—(Special.)

All the sinister interests of Rock Island's vice war which two years ago resulted in the killing of nine men were reawakened here today with the arrest of four well known citizens on charges of murder and conspiracy to murder.

The charges are specifically in connection with the death of John Connor Rock Island, who was shot to death in the street on Oct. 6, 1922, during a desperate gun battle between the factions.

The accusations are founded on a long affidavit which purports to lay open all the conspiring and intrigue that led from one murder to another, reprisal after reprisal, until, finally, two years ago, young Looney, son of John Looney, vice lord and former owner of the Rock Island News, an alleged blackmail sheet, became the victim of bullets intended for his father.

Business Men Held.

Thomas Haaga, clothier, a former chairman of the G. O. P. county committee; John W. Potter, youthful publisher of the Rock Island Argus, which he inherited from his father, John W. Colligan, Potter's managing editor, and Jake Ramper, a well known jeweler—all of Rock Island—were the four men arrested today.

They were taken into custody on warrants issued by Judge W. T. Church, sitting in the Circuit court, released on $10,000 bonds each and their preliminary hearing set for Monday.

Judge Church issued the warrants after A. W. Billburg and George Holapple had appeared in court filing the long affidavits which are alleged to lay bare the events leading up to and the actual killing of young Looney.

Charge Ramper Fired Shots.

The affidavits charge Ramper with firing the shots that killed Looney. He is charged with murder, while Potter, Colligan, and Haaga are charged with conspiracy to murder.

prosecution of Looney could be hoped for from those in power. It adds that it was under these conditions that the citizens named set out to "get" the Looney.

Pictures Gun Battle

Coming to the actual killing of the younger Looney by Rammer, according to the charges, a fifty gun battle, fought in the center of the business district of the city, is vividly described.

Billburg states he received a telephone call from Rammer, whose voice he recognized.

"The Looneys are sitting in their car in Market square," Billburg says Rammer said to him. "I'll have my gang there. Potter and Colligan and Heavy will be with them. You and Holapple come and bring your gun down if you want to see some excitement."

Billburg got into his car; Holapple into his. Some of the gang jumped in with each of them. They drove to Market square. As the two cars drove around the corner they saw Rammer and his gang on one side of the street, Looney and his son and associates on the other.

Looney and Rammer Dred.

Stripped of his heavy vest, the affidavits then state:

"Rammer ran across the street and he witnessed a pistol duel between him and John Connor Looney (Looney Jr.). At the same time Potter and Colligan, stationed on the other side of the street, were firing in the direction of the Sherman hotel, where the elder Looney had taken refuge.

"Potter, Colligan and Hoaga were all shooting at Looney, and the latter and his associates were returning their fire."

Shot After He Fell

Billburg and Holapple, according to their statements, remained seated in their cars, parked at a short distance away. They continue:

"John Connor Looney was shot at a number of times by Rammer, perhaps by others. We saw Connor Looney fall to the ground. After he fell Rammer shot several times into his prostate form."

Billburg then continues to say that on the same evening he told Rammer that if young Looney died he (Rammer) would be guilty of murder. He asserts that Rammer replied that he did not care whether young Looney died or not, and he was "only sorry" that Looney Sr. had not also been killed.

Asked Rammer's Confession.

Billburg states that, both before and after the incidents of himself and his associates, who were convicted, he often urged Rammer to admit the truth and plead self-defense; that Rammer often said he would, but that after the indictments had been voted he refused to do so, and later, when arrested, established an alibi on the evidence of two women who are relatives of one of the other men the affidavits accuse.

Billburg quotes Rammer as saying that if he should plead self-defense these witnesses would be accused of perjury. This alibi was that the two women were buying a watch from him at the time of the shooting.

Other reports circulated here was that Rammer still later told a friend the alibi was "framed" and the watch purchase specified so that the exact time could be established.

Says He Claimed Protection

The affidavits state that Rammer claimed protection from Attorney General Brundage and Special Assistant Attorney General Thomas Marshall.

"Said Rammer always stated to these affidavits," continues the affidavits, "that Edward J. Brundage and his assistant, Thomas Marshall, were taking care of him; Rammer, and would save him harmless from any threatened or attempted prosecution in connection with the murder of said Looney."

Throughout the charges Billburg and Holapple reiterate the promises of Rammer, Potter, and others named by them that they would be kept free from prosecution in any matter connected with the "killing" of the Looneys—particularly John Looney Sr.

Agreed to Pay Expense

"Rammer agreed that he and his associates would stand and pay all expenses that might be incurred in anything which might be undertaken, and that they would afford us with all political and legal protection and save us harmless from prosecution if we and our friends would participate in the project of assassinating John Looney and procuring from him such evidence as would result in clearing up the murder of Gable."

They state Rammer told them this several times, that Potter and Colligan told them this, and that others told them the same. Most of these promises, they state, were made before the death of Looney Jr. when the slaying of Gable was being discussed.

They state specifically that such a promise was given them when they agreed to take part in the intimidation of Looney by using him to a tree and placing the oil soaked straw under him.

Holapple Feared Comeback

"What if there's a comeback?" Holapple is quoted as inquiring when this

Millionaires Made in Day as Many Take Their Profits

New York, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Millionaires made in the day as many as were taken in the election.

It was the seventh day of wild trading on the exchange since the election of President Coolidge, and the principal feature—aside from the sale of 3,333,435 shares—was profit taking.

Many persons who had held stocks since last summer and others who accumulated them just before the election took the occasion to unload, but Wall Street assimilated the trades and prices of leading shares continued to reach new high marks.

$3,000,000 for Durant.

Most sensational among the price advances today was that in United States Steel Iron Pipe. It soared up 13 points, or $13 a share, to a new high mark of 139 1/4, and in its soaring carried the estimated profits of W. C. Durant to around $3,000,000. Durant, who is president of Durant Motors and over a spectacular figure in Wall Street, is credited with having caught a certain winning picture "magnate" "short" of steel stock, and his "street" is waiting for the settlement fun when the two meet face to face. Another big winner in the post-election rise is said to be George F. Baker, veteran chairman of the board of the First National bank. Baker and his associates are estimated to have cleaned up millions in American Can, which has gone up more than 18 points.

Charles M. Schwab, Leonard Replogle

plot was being hatched. And Rammer is quoted as replying: "There'll be nothing to it. There will be no arrests. But if there should be arrests there'll be nothing come of it; for the citizens will stand behind you, and instead of punishment you will be tendered a banquet."

Just what the outcome of the sensation will be is a matter of speculation. It is admitted there may be a reopening of the old bitterness, but there is one relief—John Looney, the iron hands vice lord, is gone. He left about ten days after his son was killed and is now on a ranch in New Mexico, ready to fight extradition.

Ready to fight extradition—but he will not have to fight hard, for it is not being much pushed. Rock Island is glad to let Looney stay in New Mexico.

RAISE OR LOWER LOOP CROSSINGS, COUNCIL TOLD

Elevation and depression of loop street intersections as suggested in engineers' plans submitted yesterday would increase downtown street capacity 300 per cent, and would reduce accidents to a minimum, the city council was told. The scheme, suggested by Henry W. Graves and John P. Goode, consulting engineers, was referred to the local transportation committee.

The scheme provides that Madison street traffic be routed over and under State street. East and west bound traffic on Madison street would go over State street, while north and south, would be carried over the intersection and down to State street by means of ramps. Pedestrians would go down a few steps and cross under State street.

At Dearborn street the process would be reversed. Madison street traffic would proceed on the present level, while Dearborn street traffic would be carried over or under. At Clark street, Madison street would be carried under or over, and so on at every intersection in the loop.

The cost of elevating and depressing the streets is estimated at $300,000 for each intersection.

Pole and Norway Woman Close for Nobel Prize

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 12.—The Swedish academy will decide tomorrow who is to receive the Nobel prize for literature this year. The strongest candidates, according to reliable sources, are the Polish author, Reymont, best known for his peasant epic, "The Peasants," and the Norwegian woman novelist, Sigrid Undset, who during the last few years has won European fame by her series of articles describing the life cycle of a woman in the heroic medieval times.

$304 A SQUARE FT. PAID IN NEW YORK ON FIFTH AVENUE

New York, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Fifth avenue real estate values in the new uptown financial district around the Grand Central terminal reached a new high level today when the Harriman National bank, 44th street and 6th avenue, closed contracts for the purchase from A. G. Spalding & Bros. of a 35 foot adjoining property at a figure close to $1,000,000, or about $304 a square foot.

This price is the highest ever paid for land in 6th avenue, and so far as real estate experts could recall, the highest rate ever paid anywhere in the city.

In addition, the bank purchased the twelve story office building on the corner of 44th street, where it now occupies the basement, ground floor, and second floor.

A new twelve story marble commercial building of the highest type will be erected to conform with the present bank building. The cost will be close to $1,000,000.

'PRIDE OF RUM ROW' CAPTURED IN N. Y. HARBOR

New York, Nov. 12.—(United News.) After a hard hand to hand battle in New York harbor, in which a police boat was rammed, one of the fastest vessels of the fleet operating between "Rum Row" and Greater New York was captured.

When the police boat fired two shots across the rum crane bow it turned and rammed the police boat. Police then leaped onto her deck with drawn pistols. Two hundred cases of assorted liquors were seized.

Four Murderers to Joliet.

At almost the same time that Judge Hopkins was inflicting the death penalty upon Washington Judge Rosen Wells, also in the Criminal court, was inflicting life imprisonment upon four colored youths who shot and killed a policeman. They, too, had entered pleas of guilty.

They are Nathan Paullett, 23 years old; Walter Harris, 23 years old; Charles Hollis, 19 years old, and Clarence Mitchell, who claims he is only 17 years old. On July 14 they were committing a robbery in front of 2338 South Wabash avenue and Policeman James Williams, colored, of the Cottage Grove station, attempted to apprehend them.

Paullett fired the shot which resulted in the death of the policeman at the Michael Reese hospital.

MRS. HARDING IS STRONGER; ABLE TO TAKE FOOD

Marion, O., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding's condition remains unchanged tonight, according to a brief bulletin issued by her physician, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer. The bulletin said: "There is no change in Mrs. Harding's condition over this morning. She has been stronger today and has taken a small amount of nourishment and rested comfortably."

GLAND VICTIM SUES KILLERS OF ROBERT FRANKS

Suit for $100,000, filed here some time ago by Charles Ream, taxi driver, against Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, was transferred to the Joliet courts yesterday when Ream's attorney, Henry M. Ashton, filed a new action there.

Ream charges he was mutilated by the two youths, now serving life sentences in the penitentiary at Joliet for the murder of Robert Franks.

Kansas Woman Heads Preachers' Association

The Rev. Madeline Southard of Winfield, Kan., yesterday was elected president of the International Association of Women Preachers at the closing session of its convention at the Chicago Temple. Other officers elected were: The Rev. Lulu Hunter, Oak Park, vice president; the Rev. Marie Burr Wilcox, Red Cloud, Neb., general secretary; the Rev. Nettie Springer, Muscatine, Ia., recording secretary.

Kyne Quits Cappy Ricks for Stories of Great War

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] PARIS, Nov. 12.—Feter B. Kyne, the writer and creator of Cappy Ricks, is abandoning his seafaring hero for other subjects, he said here today. Mr. Kyne said he has come to France to renew his war recollections, about which he intends writing a book incorporating some of his experiences as a captain of the famous Grifflins.

Wealthy U. S. Girl Sails to Hunt Mombasa Lions

New York, Nov. 12.—Miss Margaret Thayer of Philadelphia, daughter of the late John B. Thayer, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, will sail tomorrow for Mombasa, where she will start on a lion hunting expedition.

The Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science has commissioned her to add to its African collection.

FRAT'S PARTY A BIT TOO NOISY FOR LAKE FOREST

Telephone leading into Lake Forest college was blocked last night. Callers were refused admittance. Communication with the outside world was cut off and a great stillness reigned.

This retreat of officials, faculty, and students, announced in chapel yesterday, that the Lake Forest chapter of the Omega Psi fraternity has been temporarily closed and its room shut up for the semester and for such further period as shall be necessary for a committee to effect a satisfactory reorganization.

Dr. Moore refused to comment. His statement had indicated that the Omega Psi boys had not acted in a manner desirable to the life of the college.

Hear of Reunion.

From other sources came the news that a reunion staged on Oct. 18—homecoming day—had been boisterous, not to say insubordinate. There were at the party young women from Chicago who dined and joined in enthusiastic frothing. It was said that the party extended through Saturday night, through Sunday and Sunday night.

At the climax of the celebration one young man, exceedingly jubilant, fired a pistol at his playmates. The bullet luckily went wild. It was also whispered that the liquor had been sold to the Omega Psi by members of another fraternity.

These facts were brought out by the student's council, at which Omega Psi has no representation. For at present there are only three active Omega Psi students in the hundreds and more than fifty students had been pledged.

Goes Before Faculty.

The matter was taken before the faculty and President Moore. Some wished to remove the Omega Psi fraternity entirely. Others were more moderate.

Mark Harmeyer, president of the chapter and a student, last night asserted that he did not attend the party.

"The three active members of the fraternity were not in Lake Forest on the night in question," he said. "The alumni staged the party."

DIES IN TAXI.

Harman Henry, 50 years old, a message maker, died in a taxi cab last night of heart disease. Henry hailed the cab at the corner of Halsted and Madison streets and asked to be taken to a hospital. He was dead when the automobile reached the county hospital.

GOLDMAN URGES WORLD LABOR TO CRUSH MOSCOW

Red Soviets More Tyrannical than Czar.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, Nov. 12.—Emma Goldman, anarchist, who was deported from the United States for her alleged seditious activities, announced tonight in the presence of a large gathering of British intellectuals that she had consecrated her life to exposure of the myth of bolshevism.

She intends to remain in England and to take every opportunity for opening the eyes of English bolsheviks to the fact that Russian bolshevism is a more crushing tyranny than czarism ever was, and that it must be destroyed by the efforts of labor all over the world.

Emma was little changed from the years ago when she aroused audiences in the United States by her appeals on behalf of anarchy. She is a little older, perhaps, but she has lost none of her old fire or eloquence.

Dinner in Her Honor.

The occasion of the address was a dinner at Anderson's hotel, Fleet street, given in her honor. Josiah Wedgwood, the pottery manufacturer and former Liberal member of parliament, who joined the late Labor government, presided.

Among the guests were Bertrand Russell, mathematician; Rebecca West, author, and many other notable figures of the United States government, who were of apology were received from H. G. Wells, George Bernard Shaw, Israel Zangwill, and many others.

Emma announced that she had received a cable today from the committee of immigration at Washington stating that she would never be permitted to reenter the United States.

Defies U. S. Warning.

"I haven't asked to be allowed to reenter," Emma said. "What is more, I have been approached by emissaries of the United States government, who asked if I wouldn't like to return on certain terms. They don't know Emma Goldman. If I ever go back it will be on my own terms. It will be when all political offenders were deported for their opinions are allowed to return."

"I believe that England will retain some of her old liberties, the most important of which is the right of asylum for political refugees. She sheltered Mazzini, Marx, and Kropotkin. I am glad to be here and I don't believe that even the Conservative government will turn me out."

Light on Russia.

"I have come here to throw some light on the Russian situation," she continued. "I have been in Russia two years; I know the language, and I was able to travel and to talk to all sorts of people. I have now come out to speak for the oppressed masses of Russia who are silenced as they never were under the czar."

"The trouble is that the world is confusing the Russian revolution with the Russian revolution. Even more I wish to voice the tragic fate of the thousands of men and women and even children who are dying in prisons and concentration camps of soviet Russia, not because they took up arms against the government, but for an expression of opinion."

World's Heart of Stone.

"Today the minds and hearts of the people outside of Russia are turned to stone. Eleven years ago a great man, Peter Kropotkin, was able to come to England and arouse the world against the tyrannies of czarism. Today the people are deaf to the horrors now going on in Russia. I believe that this is because it is believed that an experiment by the working classes is being worked out there. There was never a greater error."

"The party in power is emasculated, and it is now destroying the best and finest in Russia. My complaint is not that they are too revolutionary. It is that they are not revolutionary enough. Instead of liberty, they have given tyrannies. They are the arch counter-revolutionists of the world today."

"Let me warn all people that bol-

WINS $25,000 FOR LOST LOVE FROM KLAPMAN FAMILY

Though she was called too ignorant to be the wife of a brilliant husband, Mrs. Fanny Klapman, 22, 2021 Walton street, was found smart enough yesterday to win a judgment of $25,000 from her husband's mother, Mrs. Sarah Klapman, and his brother, Attorney Abraham Klapman, 1003 North Spaulding avenue.

Judge Hugo Finn, entered the judgment by agreement between Attorney Klapman and Mrs. Klapman's lawyer, Charles E. Erstein, who said he probably would file a divorce bill in his client's behalf.

Mr. Erstein had presented a series of letters to the jury as evidence that Klapman's relatives had sought to cool his love for his wife.

shevism is an international disease. You may think that it will not come here because you have only a few communists. It doesn't take many to destroy, but it does take many to build up."

"The whole world must be warned to protect itself against this foul thing. I know that I'll be attacked and that the bolsheviks will call me in, if they can. I will be accused of being the tool of reaction. They will say that I am in the pay of Winston Churchill. They will call me a traitor. What do I care? The truth is mightier than slander, and I am here to tell the truth."

PROBE SOVIET MOVES

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Prime Minister Baldwin's cabinet held its first meeting at 10 Downing street today. It is stated that its time was spent in surveying the field and planning to tackle immediately questions concerning housing and unemployment. The meeting caused no excitement in Downing street, in which crowds used to watch former Prime Minister MacDonald's cabinet assemble. A notable difference was that all the members of the present cabinet wore top hats, while the members of the last wore derbies and soft hats.

Mr. Baldwin's cabinet at its first meeting decided to hold a searching inquiry into the Zinoviev letter.

PARLIAMENT OF ITALY SHUNNED BY 185 MEMBERS

Mussolini Rule Not Hurt by Boycott.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]
ROME, Nov. 12.—The Italian parliament opened today without any sign of a governmental crisis, which at the beginning of the week was threatened by the withdrawal of three Fascist deputies from the party as a protest against a Fascist attack on a Free Italy group during a celebration of the victory over Austria on Nov. 4.

Outside of the absence of 185 members of the opposition, the chamber assumed a normal aspect. Twenty Fascist deputies marched over to the left side of the assembly and, occupying the Socialist seats, partly effaced the visible effects of the boycott.

The entire ministry, including Premier Mussolini, was present.

Communists Start Now.

A surprise was provided at the very opening of the first session, which was to be devoted to commemoration exercises for the two murdered deputies, Matteotti, a Socialist, and Casarini, a Fascist, both killed since June.

Sig. Repossi, a communist deputy, the only member of the opposition present, arose and yelled defiance to the government, accusing it of complicity in the Matteotti murder. This brought a heavy frown from the dark face of Sig. Mussolini and aroused a stormy protest from the Fascist deputies. The communist was hissed down and he departed.

One Fascist shouted that the only reason the communist was escaping punishment was because he "didn't want to dirty his hands."

"Boycotters" Are Curious.

While the opposition had intended a complete boycott, many of them were unable to restrain their curiosity and several were seen peering in and out of the press gallery.

After the commemoration exercises the house adjourned in respect for the dead. It resumed its sitting this evening to discuss the budget.

ONE BOOTLEGGER FOR EACH 90 CITIZENS, IS CAPITAL CLAIM

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—[United Press.]—Five thousand bootleggers are operating in the national capital, assistant United States District Attorney David Hart estimated today.

Hart has had charge of prohibition enforcement cases here for three years. His estimate would make one out of every ninety Washingtonians a bootlegger.

Of the 5,000 bootleggers all but 250 have been before the courts, Hart said. More than 10,000 cases of bootlegging have been prosecuted here since the Volstead act went into effect.

GIRL TO GIVE UP IN ROGERS' DEATH INQUIRY

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Arrangements were made today by which Miss Marjorie Schneider, the pretty New Haven girl from whose automobile Charles C. Rogers, nephew of Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid, was taken on the night of Nov. 1, mortally injured, will be surrendered to the authorities whenever they wish. No warrant has been issued for her, according to her attorney.

Rogers and Miss Schneider attended the Yale-Army football game in the Yale bowl Nov. 1, and afterward went to Long Hill Inn, a roadside at W. Hartford, not far from New Haven.

There, according to the report of Coroner Mix, "intoxicating drinks were served to them."

Miss Schneider and Rogers drove later to The Pines, another roadside, where they stopped for a while. A little later Rogers was found dying in the girl's wrecked automobile. She said he struck his head against a telephone pole in peering through the fog over the side of the car.

Yesterday it was reported to the prosecutor that boys in the vicinity of the spot where the automobile was wrecked found a blood stained napkin and a towel covered with earth and leaves.

BRITISH TRADE GAINS STEADILY FOR TEN MONTHS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, Nov. 12.—The board of trade returns for the first ten months of this year, which were issued today, show a steady gain in British trade. The imports total £1,929,748,354 (roughly, $4,632,574,478), which is an increase of £43,555,085 (roughly, $191,947,327), as compared with the first ten months of last year.

The exports totaled £67,805,399 (roughly, $2,940,576,845), which is an increase of £20,465,087 (roughly, $92,032,891).

A disquieting feature is a heavy reduction in coal exports for last month. The exports were 5,000,000 tons as compared with 7,500,000 tons in October, 1922. Germany last month took only 480,000 tons, as compared with 1,500,000 tons a year ago, while Russia took some compared with 100,000 tons a year ago.

Baron Lives on Many Wives Eager for Title

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
BERLIN, Nov. 12.—During the trial of the self styled Baron von Egloffstein it was testified that the baron made his living by marrying women, who, according to German law, retained the title baroness. These women paid Egloffstein handsomely and kept him so well that he did not have to work.

RAIDERS STORM BARS IN CICERO; MANY ARRESTS

Keepers Disregard Tipoff and They Suffer.

Cicero was almost as wide open last night as usual when thirty-two squads of federal prohibition agents swooped down on that village.

True, word had leaked out that the agents—seventy-five of them—were coming and the Cicero police had been careful to warn dive keepers of the impending calamity. Most of the substantial citizens who run the saloons, gambling halls and disorderly houses shrugged their shoulders at the news and went right ahead.

Charles W. Vursell, chief federal field agent, gave each squad leader a warrant which was in his pocket alongside his pistol. There were a few dozen to break in and they were duly broken into. Generally, the agents stepped right up to the bar, asked to see the proprietor, saw him, handed him the warrant and then went through the place looking for rum.

Get 500 Gallons of Wine.

They found plenty of it. There was no room on the trucks for more than a few samples. Five hundred gallons of wine were sealed up, along with 275 barrels of beer, and left behind under guard. The whiskey and gin were loaded on two trucks and wheeled off to the Transportation building in Chicago.

Mr. Vursell informed his men the raid was being made on complaint of a law and order league in Cicero.

Among the places raided were the Hawthorne Gardens, the property of Eddie Tancil. Eleven barrels of beer and two half bottles of whiskey were confiscated. Eddie was handed a request to consider himself under arrest and appear at the federal building today to make bond.

NEW TESTAMENT TEXT OF 300 A. D. IS LIKE TODAY'S

LONDON, Nov. 12.—[By Associated Press.]—A crumpled leaf of papyrus, believed to date from about 300 A. D., upon which is written more than thirty verses of the twenty-sixth chapter of the Gospel of Matthew, was discovered recently by H. I. Bell, an expert of the British museum, while sorting a collection of papyrus consisting of 467 items destined for the library of the University of Michigan. The text is substantially complete except at the bottom of the leaf, where a corner had been torn off.

The passage commences with the words thus translated in the King James version, verse 12: "I am Jesus had appointed them and they made ready for the passover." The incomplete line at the end contains the words from verse 52, "shall perish with the sword." The passage is of interest to all denominations because of its account of the last supper and the betrayal. The text is carefully written.

Perhaps the most striking difference from the King James version is in verse 28, where the translation is, "for this is my blood of the new testament." Moffatt's translation reads: "This means my blood, the new covenant-blood." Here the text of the papyrus, in agreement with certain ancient manuscripts and some editions, omits the word "new."

"Otherwise," said Prof. Francis W. Kelsey of the University of Michigan in describing the discovery, "the text is substantially that with which all are familiar."

ways attended mass, although they thought of being married at Holy Name, where for four years Dean had been Father O'Brien's altar boy.

Widow Deep in Sorrow

Dressed in black satin, her big mink coat that covers her from head to foot, thrown aside, the widow bowed her head and pulled the long black veil from her black hat, over her eyes and sobbed as she tried to talk. Her hands still trembled, after three days of weeping that have left her eyes and her nose and her lips swollen from her tears that still flow. So distressed was she with her grief that her father-in-law and her husband's best friend, Louis Altieri, never left her.

"O, he was all I have in the world," said the widow, bowing her head even lower. "I don't know what to do now that he is gone—I can't think. I don't know what I'll do with my home."

She said Dean was always a lover of the home, never late for dinner, always loving to feed with the radio or play his $15,000 player piano. And such a pride in his furniture, wanting only the finest. Pretty lights and deep, comfortable chairs; orders to his wife to go to the limit.

"He was not a man to run around nights, only to take me to a show," Viola O'Banion said. "And never one of those men with women calling him up. He was home loving, wanting his friends about him, and never leaving without telling me where he was going."

"He didn't like vulgar ostentation. He had one car. It was a little sedan he bought for my use."

"Loved Ranch Life"

"He loved to go to a ranch in Colorado. He found great pleasure in the rodeos the cowboys held for him."

"Why," said Altieri, who sat by her, "he had all the cowpunchers tickled to death when he offered the finest rifle money could buy for a rodeo prize."

"And that," his wife said, "was the greatest interest he ever showed in guns. Carrying one, of course, sometimes, as any one will for protection against Chicago night streets, but seldom with one at home, and many a day at a time without one in his pocket."

"He was never a gun toting youngster," said his father. "Fighter he was, as any kid has to be to get along; but hard working and peaceful, and no harder to raise, when my wife died and left me with the three children on my hands, than his kid sister, who's married to a fellow out in Coldwater, Kas. This saying he was a

REV. WILLIAMS TO ASK O'BANION'S BOOKS BE SHOWN AT INQUEST

The Rev. Elmer L. Williams, law enforcement officer of the Better Government association, who was selected as one of the coroner's jurors, announced that he would seek to have Dean O'Banion's books subpoenaed. He wanted to see whatever transactions in beer and booze might be shown, and what his ownership of breweries amounted to, he said.

The police and deputy coroner were frankly skeptical that O'Banion ever kept books, but the Rev. Mr. Williams said he would persist in his efforts.

gang fighter makes me tired. I know what he was doing when he was a kid—I ought to, for I was father and mother to my children, never marrying until they were grown. Four years he was altar boy at Holy Name and good in his catechism.

"Another thing that makes me tired is the way folks seem to think Dean's father a senile, helpless old wreck that Dean had to carry. I've been in the oil business for years, traveling about, and if Dean had been down and out instead of doing a $200,000 or a $300,000 a year floral business, I could have taken care of him."

Makes no Threats

No revenge threats were made by Mrs. O'Banion. She said too much as she talked of her man to make threats. But his kindness and his generosity she could not say enough for. She will stay in Chicago, but what she will do with the apartment where they lived and all the furniture that he helped her choose, she does not know.

"I can't think, now he's gone, I loved him so and he was all I cared anything about," she said and cried into her black bordered handkerchief.

TRAIL DEATH CAR

Clews in the O'Banion murder investigation led to the arrest last night of Jules Portugase, 1256 Newberry avenue, said to be a bootlegger and hijacker. An automobile license number reported as one of the automobiles in which O'Banion's murderers escaped was traced to a car owned by Harry Portugase, a saloonkeeper at 14th street and Newberry avenue, father of Jules, and the father was also detained for a time.

Jules in pugilistic circles was known as Jimmy Wells. The automobile used by the slayers was described as a Jewett sedan. That was found to be the make of Portugase's car, but the license had been issued for a Ford. The elder Portugase at first denied he had the car out Monday morning. Later he admitted he had, but said he had returned it to the garage about 11 o'clock, or shortly before O'Banion was killed. Garage employees corroborated this to a degree and the father was released.

Where They Were

He said he had driven west in Chicago avenue, past State street, a half block from the scene of the O'Banion killing, shortly before 11 o'clock. The son said he had left home about 10 o'clock the morning of the murder and had gone to Block's restaurant at 14th and Halsted streets, where he said he remained until 1 o'clock.

Detectives said he was a frequent companion of the Genna brothers, Angelo, Samuel, and Anthony, whose names have cropped up in many Italian murders. One report received was that O'Banion had recently toured the west side seeking the Genna brothers and that he had with him in his automobile the machine gun he bought out west.

To Seek the Gennas

It was decided to keep Portugase in custody and seek the Gennas. It was admitted that Mike Carrozzo, head of the street sweeper's union, was wanted for questioning, but when St. Louis police wired Chief of Detectives Hughes asking if he wanted Carrozzo arrested he was in a quandary. He finally decided he had no evidence on which to ask Carrozzo's arrest, but would await his voluntary return.

She Denies Knowing of Murder. Margaret Collins, the blonde, said to have been the cause of the break between the O'Banion and Carrozzo gangs, appeared at the state's attorney's office.

his office. She said she knew nothing about the murder of the chief gangster. So did David Jerus, better known as John Bates or "Jew" Bates, lieutenant of O'Banion, and escort of Miss Collins.

Louis Altieri, pal of O'Banion, partner with him in home, beer and gambling deals, has given his personal explanation to many of the gangsters police considered as possible murderers of O'Banion. It was apparent that he had failed to include Carrozzo's name in the list.

"I know that the Miller brothers had nothing to do with the murder," Altieri said. "O'Banion and the Miller boys had been on the outs for some time, but they had patched up all that trouble. John Torrio and Al Brown are good friends of ours and had no hand whatever in the killing."

He Clears Kinsmen

"As far as Kinsmen goes, O'Banion did not know him. 'Libby' Nuccio had nothing to do with the murder. I have talked with him since the killing, and if he had not convinced me that he was clean he would have been killed before we parted."

"I have no idea who killed O'Banion, but I would be willing to die smiling if I only had a chance to shoot it out with whoever did. I have known for a year and a half that I have been marked for death, but so far Louis is still very much alive. I would like to meet the guys that shot O'Banion any time and any place they mention and I would get at least two or three of them before they'd get me."

The officials were able to offer little hope to Charles O'Banion, father of the slain booze king, that they would apprehend the slayers. The father appeared at the inquest in the morning, gave the family history of the deceased, after which an adjournment was ordered.

JURORS PONDER ABOUT KICK IN HILL'S WINE JUG

Judge Tells Them What Drunkenness Means.

BULLETIN.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13, 1 A. M.—(Special).—At midnight the jury which heard the liquor case against Congressman John Philip Hill was still deliberating.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 12.—The case of Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore, who has been on trial in the United States court for the last three days on an indictment charging violations of the Volstead law, went to the jury at the beginning of the afternoon session of the court today and, not having reported a verdict at 5:30 o'clock, Judge Morris A. Soper adjourned court, directing that the verdict, if one were reached, be sealed and presented to court tomorrow morning. Judge Soper's charge preceded the argument of counsel. He directed the jury to dismiss the fifth and sixth counts of the indictment accusing Mr. Hill of maintaining a common nuisance at his home on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Burden of Proof on U. S.
Judge Soper declared at the outset that the burden of proof rested on the government to satisfy the jury of the defendant's guilt, and later refused the request of District Attorney Woodcock to instruct the jury that the burden of proof rested on Mr. Hill to prove that his fruit juices were not intoxicating in fact.

"The matters for your decision are involved in the first four counts of the indictment," the judge said. These counts charge the unlawful manufacture and possession of wine and cider.

"Was It Wine?"
The issues of fact to which your attention is directed are rather narrow and few," he continued, "for the reason that there is no dispute in this case, that the defendant both manufactured and possessed the liquors in question. He has testified to that effect on the stand. The question for you to decide is whether these articles answer to the description of those articles in the indictment. Now the description in the first and second count is 'intoxicating liquor, to wit, twenty-five gallons of wine.' The questions for you to decide on those two counts are two in number. First, was the article wine, and second, was it intoxicating?"

"The position of the defendant on the first question is that the article which he manufactured and possessed in September, 1924, was not wine for the reason that the grapejuice manufactured was still in process of fermentation. His contention is that so long as it was fermenting, whatever else it might be, it was not wine."

Intended to Make Wine.
"Now, it is plain from the evidence, if we are to accept the definition contended for by the defendant, that what the defendant intended to make was wine, and the only reason why it is possible to make the contention that it was not wine because on Oct. 11, 1923, by order of this court, he was forbidden to manufacture wine and was further directed to maintain what he had then manufactured in its condition without further fermentation."

"The second question for you to determine, if you decide that the article was wine, is whether or not it was intoxicating. It is not a question in any case of whether the drink which a particular individual took at a particular time made him drunk, but whether or not the article is capable of producing drunkenness."

"Perhaps I might interpolate here that the word intoxication in this law means what you and I ordinarily understand, as average human beings, by drunkenness. If this wine was capable of producing drunkenness if taken in sufficient quantities—that is to say, taken in such quantities as it was practically possible for a man to drink—then it was intoxicating."

Judge Soper's charge preceded the argument in the case, which was opened by Arthur W. Machen for the defense.

Mr. Machen told the jury it was not John Philip Hill who was on trial, but the last vestige of American liberty. Woodcock objected and Judge Soper told Machen he could not make an anti-prohibition speech in court.

District Attorney Woodcock's argument was brief and closed the hearing.

COUNCIL VOTES AGAINST RAILWAY GRADE CROSSINGS

Enforcement of blanket ordinances passed in 1895, requiring the elimination of all railroad grade crossings in the city, was ordered by the city council yesterday.

The order directs the track elevation committee to prepare the specific ordinances contemplated in the 1895 measure. It also directs the commissioner of public works and the corporation counsel to proceed immediately against those railroads that have pleaded their financial inability to comply with the ordinance.

The order was introduced by Ald. Arthur Albert (43d) after resolutions from the Illinois Turn District of the American Turners' League and the North Austin Manor Neighborhood club, condemning grade crossings, had been received by the aldermen and referred to the track elevation committee.

One of the twelve victims of the disaster at North Avenue and Kingsbury street two weeks ago, when a crowded street car was struck by a freight train on a grade crossing, was a member of the Illinois Turn District. Appointment of a commission to secure the proposed rail centennial exposition in 1926 for Chicago was urged on Mayor Dever in a resolution offered by Ald. Guernsey (8th) and approved by the council.

LEWISMAN ELECTROCUTED.
George Dross, 826 Marengo avenue, Forest Park, a lifeguard for the Public Service Company at Northern Illinois, was electrocuted yesterday while working on a pole carrying high tension electric wires at Quaker street and Monroe street, River Forest.

COUNCIL MOVES FOR SHORTENING OF THE BALLOTS

Revision of the Illinois election laws to permit the submission of national and state tickets on separate ballots and the election of judges on days other than general election days, will be sponsored by the city council in the coming session of the legislature, it was decided yesterday.

In accord with a resolution offered by Ald. Joseph O. Kostner (23d), the council judiciary committee was directed to prepare and submit to the legislature the necessary amendments. Introduction of a similar bill is an important item of the 1925 program announced on Monday by the Legislative Voters' League.

COUNCIL NAMES PORT BUREAU AND SPRAGUE AS CHIEF

Creation of a port commission, headed by A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, to plan for the city's future needs, was authorized by the city council yesterday.

Government approval of the La Salle street bridge depends upon immediate appointment of the commission, the aldermen were told by Ald. Guy Guernsey.

Other members of the commission named are John J. Sloan, president of the board of local improvements; F. X. Busch, corporation counsel; Ald. Guernsey, Ald. E. J. Kalind, Ald. R. A. Woodhull, and Ald. J. O. Kostner.

BROOKHART 650 AHEAD AT END OF DAY'S COUNT

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 12.—(By the Associated Press).—A lead of 650 votes for Senator Smith W. Brookhart, with official figures to come from twelve of the ninety-nine Iowa counties, was recorded tonight in the official canvass of votes cast for Brookhart and Daniel F. Steuck, his Democratic opponent for the senate in the Nov. 4 election. Tabulation of the official returns today fluctuated more than 100 votes in Senator Brookhart's favor, the reports early today having sent his majority down to 539, a new low mark since the beginning of the official count.

The official total vote in eighty-seven counties and the unofficial total in the twelve unreported counties made the totals tonight: Brookhart, 447,467; Steuck, 446,807. Counties yet to report included Polk (Des Moines) and Pottawattamie (Council Bluffs). The election boards in both these counties are encountering difficulty in the form of missing certificates from election judges.

CROWDS HONOR THE MEMORY OF MICHAEL MERLO

Italian residents of the city will pause and bow their heads for a few minutes this morning while the funeral cortege of Michael Merlo moves to St. Clements' church at Orchard street and Daming place.

Last night crowds gathered at the Merlo residence, 433 Diversey parkway, to pay their last respects. The crowds became so great early in the evening that it was found necessary to station guards at intervals along the double file of men and women to keep the procession on the move into and from the home.

There was a life sized image of Michael Merlo, made of blue flowers, to match the color of suits he often wore, while the face was made of wax, fashioned to a perfect likeness. The image stood so that it faced those who entered the room where the coffin lay. At first glance it seemed as if the friend of so many was not, could not, be dead, but was there to greet them. Then the illusion passed and it was seen of what the image was made. Little or no space was left in the Merlo home for the mourners. Every thirty minutes or so brought new deliveries of flowers. It was estimated the floral designs and sprays alone cost about $30,000. Merlo was their leader and friend. Thirty-five years ago he came to this country and began life here as a laborer. In time he became a leader, and at his death he was chairman of the board of the Union Siciliana, with hundreds of thousands of members. Solemn requiem high mass will be said by Mgr. Remppe at St. Clements' church this morning. Burial will be in Mount Carmel. Among the honorary pallbearers are Mayor William E. Dever, Francis X. Busch, State's Attorney R. E. Crowe, Joseph Esposito, Judge Francis Borrelli, Judge J. R. Burke, Judge Edgar A. Jones, Maria J. O'Brien, Arthur O'Brien, Michael Kenna, Morgan A. Collins, Anton Cermak.

KIMBALL PIANOS

ARE you one of the fortunate ones whose home surroundings allow space for one of the larger-sized grands? Then let it be the Kimball—a piano of rare physical beauty and glorious, resonant tones!

Or would you prefer to devote less space to your instrument? The KIMBALL Grand (Style 31), see illustration, adds an impressive distinction to any refined interior.

There is also the KIMBALL Small Grand (Style 29), occupying minimum space, yet delivering the rich, deep tones of a volume comparing favorably with those of the larger grands.

The same high quality-standard is revealed in all KIMBALL instruments—grands, players, uprights and phonographs. And great production capacity has established a price-range far lower than such exceptional quality would appear to warrant. Why not come in today, and judge for yourself?

ALLIED BOARD ON REPARATIONS CUT TO SHADOW

Sense of Economy Spreads in Europe.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.) PARIS, Nov. 12.—By a decision of the allied governments announced last night the reparations commission practically will be suppressed the first of the year, leaving the Dawes committee to carry out the execution of Germany's reparations payments as the experts' report provided.

It is estimated that millions of francs will be saved annually through abolishing the huge and cumbersome reparations commission organization with its hundreds of assistants, clerks, secretaries and stenographers, all at fat salaries and with big expense accounts.

The relic of the reparations commission will move from the Hotel Astoria as soon as it finds more modest quarters, and the handsome big seven story building in the Champs Elysees facing the Arch of Triumph will be converted into a hotel after the French government's requisition has been lifted from the former German owners.

Long Out of Picture.

The reparations commission ceased to exist to all intents and purposes twenty-two months ago when the French occupied the Ruhr. Owing to the British objection to the military occupation, the reparations commission did not function except perfunctorily on a couple of occasions while it was receiving the Dawes report officially and naming the officials who were to supervise the execution of the plan.

The Dawes plan itself is responsible for the death of the reparations commission, as it provides that Germany pay a lump sum annually as reparations, from which the allies themselves will deduct all costs of the armies of occupation, the maintenance of the reparations commission, and the disarmament control mission and all other allied bodies functioning in connection with the Versailles treaty.

Formerly Germany paid the cost of the upkeep of the armies to the reparations commission and the other organizations separately from reparations.

Has 500 Employees.

The present personnel of the reparations commission is estimated to exceed 500 persons, including the principal delegates of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Belgium, and Yugoslavia. Each delegation gets 500,000 gold francs ($125,000) annually.

Henceforth the principal delegates will not be required to live in Paris and they will serve without a salary. It is planned to have the reparations commissioners meet only four or five times annually, when their expenses will be paid to Paris.

The private secretaries of the delegates and the assistants will be suppressed, and various departments, such as finance, restitution, reparations, in kind, etc., will be abolished.

After Jan. 1 assistant delegates will carry on for the chief delegates, who will return to London, Rome, Brussels, Belgrade and Tokio.

Ousts Tuchung; Puts Own Men in Jobs.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.) PEKING, Nov. 12.—Asserting his leadership in China, Marshal Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian war lord, today caused the removal of Wang Ching-ping from the super-tutorship of Chihli, Shantung, and Honan provinces, of which Wu Pei-fu recently lost control, and has ordered the installation of Gen. Li Ching-shan, Mukden commander, whose troops are now surrounding Tientsin.

He is also removing the new military governors of Honan and Shantung and is installing Mukden generals in their places.

Chang is coming to Peking when military discipline has been completed. He will then make further changes in the administration, including the cabinet.

Apparently Chang feels strong enough to act alone, but he has expressed a willingness to cooperate with Tuan Chih-jui, Anfu leader, in a conference to map out the future of China.

Tuan's intervention has caused a mutual agreement whereby the former emperor is given his summer palace and is also permitted to have all his private effects, while the new parliament will revise the articles of the agreement for his support.

Has New Constitution.

The forthcoming conference of leaders at Tientsin will adopt a new constitution and will also decide whether the government shall have a president or commission. It will also decide on the location of the capital.

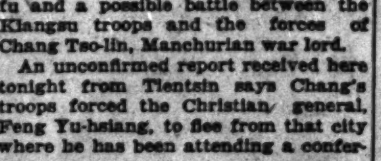

Meanwhile Wu Pei-fu is counting upon ten provinces, of which three are still wavering, to support him in his fight to regain control of the country. The certainty of warfare in the Yangtze district has caused Chang to hasten the political changes.

U. S. Gunboats Rush to Nanking.

(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.) SHANGHAI, Nov. 12.—The American gunboats Penguin and Blackhawk, stationed here since the recent fighting, received urgent orders tonight to proceed at full speed to Nanking, owing to possible trouble there as a result of the arrival of Marshal Wu Pei-fu and a possible battle between the Kiangsu troops and the forces of Chang Tso-lin, Manchurian war lord.

An unconfirmed report received here tonight from Tientsin says Chang's troops forced the Christian general, Feng Yu-hsiang, to flee from that city where he has been attending a conference.

STRESEMANN TO LEAD GERMAN REPUBLIC BLOC

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.) BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Casting himself loose from all entanglements with the Nationalist or Monarchist party, Foreign Minister Stresemann tonight declared himself the leader of the republican movement and proceeded to Dortmund, where he will preside over the executive council of the People's party conference. He will open his election campaign with a series of speeches pleading for the maintenance of the republic and opposing the monarchist movement.

Dr. Stresemann is the biggest factor in the present general elections and also the most important figure in German politics. His recent deals with the Nationalists during the time the cabinet was making an effort to take them into the government made Dr. Stresemann's position a great enigma.

The foreign minister will defend his previous deals with the Nationalists as a political necessity caused by the Dawes plan. He believes Chancellor Marx's futile attempt to bring the Nationalists into the government, an action which brought on the election, shows the impossibility of working with the Monarchists. He has pledged himself to support Chancellor Marx if the center parties win control of the new Reichstag.

Gen. Ludendorff today asked former Crown Prince Frederick William to intercede in his dispute with former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, but the Kaiser's son refused. The only course now left is for Gen. Ludendorff and Prince Rupprecht to fight a duel, which the general's friends are urging upon Germany's war leader.

JUDGES REVERSE EXPERT ON HIS PLAN FOR JURORS

Efficiency at the cost of legal expenditure is not efficiency it was decided yesterday by judges of the Superior court. They denounced as unlawful recent changes suggested by J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert, to Superior Court Clerk Samuel B. Erickson.

The judges ordered Mr. Erickson to return to the former method of summoning and paying jurors. Jacobs' new system required the clerks to keep a detailed and complete record of each juror's period of service. It also provided for payment of jurors' fees by mail.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage, loosening the phlegm, soothing and healing the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your drugist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Louis Chermokos Robbed of $3,750 Personal Gems

Jewelry valued at $3,750 was stolen by two armed men who attacked Louis Chermokos, a tourist, last evening in the hallway of the building where he lives, at 447 St. James place. Chermokos was knocked down and beaten, but not seriously injured. A $3,000 diamond ring and $750 stickpin were taken.

I Want Four Hours of Your Time Next Sunday

First—

I am a real estate man.

My company has been continuously in business here in Chicago since 1889.

Second—

I have just purchased 40 acres in Lake Forest, heavily wooded and only a short distance from the lake.

The lots are from 100x200 to 200x200. The entire tract is highly restricted; $18,000 homes the minimum; 50 foot building line.

1000 front feet of this land will be sold Sunday at almost acre price, less than $35.00 per foot. After this sale prices will be advanced 50%. Terms: $100.00 deposit, $700.00 more on signing contract, balance at rate of $40.00 per month.

Third—

The trip will cost you nothing. You will be my guest for the four hours. I take this method of approaching a limited number of interested North Shore homeseekers who can appreciate a good buy when they see it.

FREE NEWARK UNDER BOND IN BAD STAMP CASE

U. S. Searches Office of Raging Official.

Ben Newark, assistant state fire marshal, arrested Tuesday night upon charges of counterfeiting government savings stamps, obtained his release on bonds late yesterday afternoon. Newark's friends readily signed them.

Newark's friends, upon signing his bonds, promised that he would appear before a federal judge Nov. 20 and explain why he should not be sent to jail for making and merchandising spurious stamps. Newark, according to the federal operative, is the head of a band of counterfeiters.

It was charged that a scholastic in Lowell, Mass., had purchased one of the counterfeit stamps and that many banks had bought them in large quantities.

Detectives Search Office. While Newark was in custody, a warrant was issued for the search of Newark's office in the eleventh floor of the Burnham building, and secret service men, ransacked the place.

A second arrest in the counterfeiting case came when Isadore Factor was taken into custody. Mrs. Herbert Schmitz and Frances Walsh, for whom warrants were issued last week, surrendered themselves and gave bond.

Newark's release came yesterday as his indignation soared to great heights. But he had cause for indignation. He was fouled over—in neglect, shall we say, late Tuesday night in the apartment of Miss Shirley Carter at 216 Grace street by detectives who sought light upon the slaying of Dean O'Hanlon. When the coppers entered the dainty apartment, Newark blinked.

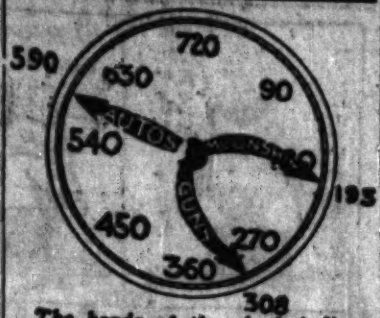

"What the hell?" he asked. "Since when have you taken to advertising underwear?" asked a policeman.

Tastes Horrors of Prison. "You'd think I was an ordinary bum," said Newark as they tossed him into a cell at a police station with a Volstead supporter. He discovered upon the horrors of municipal jails at length. They took him to the bureau of identification for mugging, as the slang term is, and they took his measurements.

He was taken before Capt. Thomas J. Porter, chief of the secret service, but, though Newark liked the surroundings, he refused to talk, especially of his adventures with stamps. If he had any. So he was returned to the lockup with the hoppers and the booze runners.

Several reporters, to whom Ben had told thrilling tales of fire fighting, experiences undergone while on duty as assistant state fire marshal, tried to question Newark as he departed from the Federal building. He brushed them aside and stalked on into the street.

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by auto, gun, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1.

SCHOOLBOY HIT AND KILLED BY CLERIC'S AUTO

County Speed Toll Is Raised to 590.

Alexander Bohmewicz, 1617 Grove avenue, North Chicago, while running across a street on his way home from school, was struck yesterday by an automobile driven by the Rev. Philip Keadors, assistant pastor of Holy Rosary church, North Chicago. The boy was instantly killed. The priest rammed his car into the curb in an effort to avoid the accident. The accident occurred in Waukegan.

Toll Up to 590. The death of Mrs. Mary Southern, 30 years old, colored, 4048 Grand boulevard, struck by an automobile while in front of her home, raised the Cook county motor death toll since Jan. 1 to 590. The driver, John Divas, 505 South Throop street, was not held.

Two policemen, Thomas Cleary and Joseph Zeiger, narrowly escaped injury yesterday when the police flivver in which they were riding was struck and wrecked by an automobile truck at Oakdale near Sheffield avenue. The truck driver, A. M. Lents Jr., 1203 Wolfram street, was arrested.

Boy Patrols to Meet. Officials of the Chicago Motor club yesterday laid plans for the meeting on Saturday, Nov. 23, of all the boys of the traffic patrol of the public and parochial schools. The meeting will be held at the First Regiment armory, where the program will include the showing of an accident prevention film, talks on safety first, and similar safety measures.

TENTH ELK DIES

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 12.—James K. Collins, an actor of New York City, lodge No. 1 of the Elks, died today, bringing the total number of victims of poisoned cider served at the Elks' national home at Bedford Monday to ten.

Sixteen of the aged residents of the home made ill by the cider and now confined to the hospital were reported today as showing signs of improvement. Daniel Crowley of Sumnerville, Mass., was said to be the most seriously ill.

FABY TO SPRING SURPRISE SOON, LAWYER SAYS

More of Loot Is Found,
Rumor in Court.

Reports that more than $1,000,000 of the $2,000,000 Roundout, Ill., mail robbery had been recovered and that the confessions of the six defendants who pleaded guilty are "complete" failed to shake the three remaining on trial yesterday.

William Faby, former postal inspector, accused of being the inside man in the robbery, vigorously denied reports that he also would change his plea to guilty. He repeated his charges that the case against him was a frame-up. His attorney, Robert Milroy, former assistant United States attorney general, announced that Faby not only would maintain his innocence to the end, but would take the witness stand to prove it.

Faby to Take Stand. "Faby will be the chief witness to his own defense," Mr. Milroy said. "He will give testimony that will be a real surprise, and there never has been any intention for him to plead guilty."

Earlier in the day Mr. Milroy had sought to have Judge Cliffe continue the trial, because of published reports that Faby would change his plea. "No newspaperman prints such stories, unless they are based on fact of some sort, and there is no doubt in my mind that government officials deliberately gave out the false story as propaganda."

Influence prospective jurors," Milroy told the judge. Judge Cliffe overruled the motion, which also was made in behalf of James Murray and Walter McComb, the other defendants.

Brent Wood Glasscock, who confessed that he directed the robbery, is understood to have told government officials of two trunks containing $600,000 in loot which were checked at the Union station for a few days after the robbery and then delivered to a south side address. Officials privately intimated that this is all of the unrecovered loot as they went searching parties out. That would mean that about $1,500,000 in loot has been found.

"Quality folk"

No matter where you meet them, men and women favored by possession of that elusive combination of attributes called "quality" are conspicuous, not by exclusiveness, but by unobtrusiveness.

"Quality" is above attainment by purchase; nor does it always develop as it should through environment and education. And it is little influenced, beneath the surface, by the possession or need of things which thoughtless persons sometimes value most highly.

In a blatant, luxurious time, such as this, when people, whose intelligence should teach them to cling to standards, become too easily confused by example and accept the crass customs of spurious gentility, a leaven of "quality" among its people becomes a thing of enhanced value to a nation.

A right of discrimination, properly exercised by individuals, even in the business world, leads them to contacts congenial to their views of life.

It is wholly probable that there are, in and around Chicago, even as yet, people unacquainted with Henrici's by contact as patrons. No doubt many of them would like this establishment fully as well as do the impressive numbers who find full satisfaction here daily. Why not Henrici's today, for breakfast, luncheon, dinner or late supper?

MAY RUSH LAW TAKING ROADS OUT OF POLITICS

Cummins Hopes La Follette Will Compromise.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 12.—Preparations for railroad legislation in the short session of congress will get under way in Washington immediately, Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa, co-author of the bill, said today. Cummins transportation act, announced tonight prior to his departure for the capital.

The result of the election has no improved the situation. Senator Cummins declared that the factions can get together on the economic questions involved and take the railroads out of politics.

During the next few days the senator plans to hold conferences with President Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and representatives of both the railroad operators and their employees.

Reck Agreement with La Follette.

Senator Cummins expressed the hope that Senator La Follette would meet him half way on the problem.

"It would seem," Senator Cummins said, "that the result of the election has demonstrated that La Follette cannot have his own way. As I am willing to concede a part of his railroad program, it would seem there is a fair opportunity to reach an agreement."

There are three problems to be involved—consolidation of the systems, adoption of a settled policy of governmental interference in disputes between the railroads and their employees, and valuation of the properties necessary for rate making purposes.

"Hope for the settlement of these problems looks promising to me," Mr. Cummins said. Of course, we can't take the railroads out of politics so long as the policy of government regulation is followed.

Mass Hysterical Consolidation.

"There no longer remains any dispute over the necessity of consolidation of our railroads. There is only a difference of opinion over the proper method of effecting the consolidation. Thus far it has not been possible to get the railroads to agree on a plan."

The chief problem concerning the employees is their opposition to the United States railroad labor board. There is not enough difference between the managers and the men to form a cause of continual fighting.

The third big problem is the valuation of railroad property, for on that depends the rate making power.

MOP AGUE GRIPS TERRY, ON FOOD AND FAG DIET

Doc Forbids Work; Jail Fever or Something.

Terry Druggan, the dapper gent who stands away up in the Chicago blue book of beer runners and booze hustling millionaires, never did crave to know the meaning of the word "work." From his first days over in "The Valley" Terry has had an aversion to anything that suggested labor.

But when Terry suddenly found himself inside the stone walls of the county jail Tuesday morning he was up against it. Some one nearby tipped him off that those who are sentenced to serve a year in jail are forced to work to pay for their board. So Terry started thinking.

Yesterday he was turned out of his cell along with a number of others and marched over to the mop and broom rack and ordered to help themselves. Terry did, but he was the last one to fall into line. His soft palms, fingernails glistening, curved around a wooden handle.

The Invalid Collapse.

"All right, boys, let's go," shouted the guard.

Druggan dragged behind the others as they marched to the end of the cell house. Splash went the mop into the water pails and splash down on the floor. Terry cast one furtive look in the direction of the other workers and then over at the guard. Suddenly his mop dropped to the floor, a plaintive sigh came from his throat, and the dapper millionaire beer runner dropped to the floor.

"O, I'm so sick. Get the doctor. I'm dying, I guess," he moaned.

Begins to Look Serious.

The guard took the fallen toiler to the hospital on the sixth floor and called for Dr. Francis M. McNamara, who occupies the position of jail physician. The doctor took one look at Terry and then directed the guard to leave the prisoner in the hospital.

"But what is the complaint?" he was asked.

"I don't know. I will have to have the man under observation for a few days to decide," replied Dr. McNamara.

Likes the doctor advanced a possible theory as to the cause of the prisoner's sudden collapse.

"He says he's got ulcers of the stomach and also is suffering from tuberculosis," he admitted.

A guard observed that Terry ate heartily of the dinner provided him from a nearby restaurant.

Frank Purton, 4217 South Michigan avenue, was held up and robbed of jewelry valued at $1,500 and of $100 in currency last night by two armed men. The robbers also took Purton's automobile. The holdup took place at the corner of 42d street and Michigan avenue.

50 CORN SHUCKING WIZARDS IN STATE RACE TOMORROW

More than fifty Illinois and Indiana corn shuckers have entered the state corn shucking contest which is to be held tomorrow in Sangamon county, Illinois. Cash prizes totaling $200 will be awarded in the contest which is being promoted by the Prairie Farmer magazine, the Sangamon County Farm bureau, and the Springfield Chamber of Commerce.

The winners will represent Illinois in the midwest contest at Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 24.

Ray McQuirk, one of the entrants in tomorrow's contest, husked 2,920 pounds of corn in one hour and twenty minutes in his trial, which is at the rate of 271 bushels in a nine hour day.

SUE D. G. JOYCE FOR FURNISHING OF TWO HOMES

A more matter of $40,000, part of the debt of $104,389.45 which Mrs. David G. Joyce contracted in furnishing the home at 223 Walton place and another in Miami, Fla., occupied the center of the stage yesterday when the suit of the Linden company against Joyce opened.

The Linden company complains that Joyce owes it $29,226.44, part of the final installment of more than $44,000. Joyce says the account was wiped out when he paid $40,000 by agreement. Benjamin George, representing the Boardley Chandler company, testified that Ernest J. Wagner, secretary of the Linden company, gave Joyce a receipt reading "paid in full."

Wagner, on the stand, said he couldn't remember. Witnesses for the defense will be heard today before Judge Daniel P. Trade.

BATTLE ON BLUE LIQUOR LAWS TO OPEN ASSEMBLY

Weber to Lead Liberal
Drive for Repeal.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.
Attempts will be made in the next legislature to repeal the Illinois prohibition act and the search and seizure law. The veto hope to put over some repeal of this kind just as a demonstration to the rest of the country that Illinois is ready to turn to legalized brew and fermentation.

Representative Charles H. Weber (Dem., Cook), one of the outstanding anti-prohibitionists in the assembly, expects to go to Springfield in January with a pocketful of repealer bills aimed at prohibition legislation. While he is at it he plans to aim a few knockouts at other unworkable and obsolete laws that clutter up the statutes. Representatives: Weber, Mueller (Rep., Cook), Mitchell (Dem., Cook), Igoe (Dem., Cook), and O'Grady (Dem., Cook) have presented prohibition repeal legislation.

Dry's Claim Power.
The drys say Weber and other wetts are nurturing forlorn hopes; that the Anti-Saloon league will control enough votes to stop any program for repeal or modification. It takes 28 votes in the senate and 77 in the house to put a measure through and a two-thirds vote in both houses to override a veto by the governor.

Frank P. Ebbert, who became state secretary of the Anti-Saloon league when P. Scott McBride advanced to the national secretaryship, is confident the league can hold a majority of both houses. But Weber and his wetts declare they intend to force a showdown on the dampness of the new legislature.

The Anti-Saloon league is laying plans to take a hand in the speaker-ship contest. It was forced to accept David H. Shanahan in 1923, when he was elected speaker for a fourth time, but Mr. McBride said Shanahan's fairness was satisfactory to the drys.

Refuse to Accept Scholes.
League leaders who supported Gov. Small are understood to be ready to break with him if he insists on Representative Robert Scholes (Rep., Peoria) for speaker. Scholes, one of the wettest members of the house, is Small's first choice for speaker as a reward for leading the governor's battles two years ago.

Troubles are beginning to loom for the governor in organizing the house. In addition to the conflict over the speakership there is the question of appropriations and the floor leadership. The Republican side in the house, particularly the administration following, is lacking in experienced leadership. The veteran Shanahan, it is said, expects to sit quietly in the background unless some important crisis that puts him in the breach free from any trammeling agreements.

Edward J. Smekal, who has headed the appropriations committee for ten years as successor to Shanahan, is not a member of the new house. Gov. Small thus faces the session with the prospects of a new speaker and a new appropriation chairman.

Fifty Thousand People Will Live in This New Apartment District!

—Two Miles Closer Than Rogers Park
—As Close to the Loop as the Edgewater Beach

Apartment and Business Lots Now—at Subdivision Prices

How a close-in North Side tract has been developed to bring maximum profits to investors

HERE are some facts of vital importance to builders and investors—about a tract of vacant lots, fully improved, and ready for building—27 minutes from the loop by elevated.

Vacant property in Chicago, and close in, near good transportation, and ripe for apartment development is scarce. Scattered pieces may be bought in various sections where surrounding development is mixed, but apartment sites already surrounded by high grade built-up apartment districts are not obtainable at subdivision prices.

Britigan's New Budlong Woods Addition

The Budlong Woods Addition is the last large tract available in the heart of Chicago's North Side apartment district. When it is gone there will be no more, and the steady demand must force prices higher and higher. Consider what happened when the last piece of close-in apartment property was offered to the public one year ago. That was on the South Side, and yet within one year over 30% of the lots have been resold at profits of from 40% to 120%.

The rents that can be obtained from apartments determine the value of the land upon which the apartments are to be built—and rents in the district surrounding this property now compare favorably with rents obtained in the highest class apartment sections of the city, and justify much higher prices than those at which these lots are selling. Right now, this property, just opened, is selling rapidly to builders and investors who know that conditions surrounding these lots make substantial increases in value certain. On the opening day, last Sunday, several hundred thousand dollars worth of these lots were purchased.

A Few Business Lots Also Offered

The greatest profits in Chicago real estate have been made on apartment and business property surrounded by high grade apartment development. This table, recently published by the Chicago Evening Post, tells how a few well known corners so situated have increased in ten years.

	Price per foot—1915	Price per foot—1920
Northeast corner Broadway and Wilson . . .	$350	$6,000
Northeast corner Lawrence and Kedzie . . .	100	1,500
Northeast corner Cicero and Madison . . .	250	1,200
Southeast corner 67th and Stony Island . . .	150	1,750

The Budlong Woods Addition is closer than the Lawrence and Kedzie district; it is bounded by Foster Avenue, Balmoral Avenue, North Rockwell Street and California Avenue, and it has been rigidly restricted to apartments only (except on the business streets).

Consider the future of this development—two blocks from the Western Avenue car line, one block from the Lincoln Avenue car line, and four blocks from the Lawrence Avenue car line. Just five minutes from the Wilson Avenue District, and 27 minutes from the loop by elevated.

Those who have priced apartment or business sites miles further from downtown will recognize the opportunity this offers. And remember this—Chicago is growing at the rate of 100,000 people every year. In 1915 people said Chicago was overbuilt, but millions of dollars have been made in real estate since then.

Regardless of temporary variation in the demand for apartments, the steady growth of Chicago continues creating new demand and the increasing scarcity of well-located property constantly adds to its value.

The Britigan Organization has brought substantial profit to investors through every one of the eighty subdivisions they have marketed in Chicago. Large as these profits have been, this project, we believe, presents the greatest profit opportunity ever offered by Britigan.

Yellow Cab

Helps Chicago
in Many Ways

Every day is a new day with Yellow Cab. No day is like yesterday. Every day the people of Chicago find new things for us to do for them, and we do things we never did before, some of them far remote from the duties of a taxicab company.

Primarily this is a cab company. But we are useful in a great variety of ways. When people get into trouble, they call the Yellow Cab. The number—CALUMET 6000—is at the end of 400,000 telephones, and it is a standing guard over this community.

We respond to sick calls—distress calls of all descriptions. We rush emergency cases to hospitals—find doctors for people who are unable to do it themselves—rouse up drug stores late at night to get medicine for ailing children. We have even responded to calls from frightened women who thought there were burglars in the house.

Our drivers have caught many criminals—discovered many incipient fires—saved people from burning buildings, and are, therefore, an unpaid police force which watches over you while you sleep.

While this may sound like romance, or boasting, it is all fact. The number of queer emergency calls we answer in a year, can hardly be estimated. And many a family has just cause to be grateful to CALUMET 6000, and the man who answered the call.

Far from resenting these unusual requests, we are more than glad to oblige the people. We came here to be useful, and the fact that these requests are outside the regular duties of a cab driver, is of no importance. The big thing is to be able to help in hours of need.

Maimed, Blinded, Paralyzed, Insane—the Results of "Social" Diseases

"Social" diseases are merciless. As Dr. Bundesen, Commissioner of Health for Chicago, has said: "They scatter misery broadcast and leave in their wake sterility, insanity, paralysis, maimed women, the blinded eyes of little babes, the twisted limbs of deformed children, degradation, physical rot and mental decay."

Anybody who has been exposed to and has contracted one of these diseases, may suffer one or more of the afflictions mentioned—unless proper medical attention is obtained early enough.

It is delay in securing efficient treatment that lets the disease get its hold on the system and wreck the victim's health.

Thousands in every community—many of them people who acquired their infection innocently—are suffering in secret. Many even are unaware of the cause of their misfortune.

Because of false modesty or because they don't realize the true nature of their trouble, they even hesitate to consult a doctor and let the disease run on—or they may try to cure themselves with nostrums.

They may keep the secret for a while, but as the disease progresses, visible symptoms are likely to appear at any time and make its presence known to all.

The consequences of a venereal infection are not necessarily confined to the original victim. Many cases result from innocent contact with infected people or with articles they have used. A towel, a drinking cup, or any other article of common use may act as a carrier of the germs.

But no matter how the disease has been contracted, the fact remains that it will not "run out" and that without proper treatment it will steadily become worse.

To consult a physician as soon as possible after symptoms appear or when the presence of infection is suspected or after known exposure is simply a matter of common sense.

The idea that one form of "social" disease is incurable and that the other is not serious is all wrong. It is this false notion that has made many a person postpone treatment and suffer the penalty of ruined health or death.

Both forms are very serious. In fact, venereal infections are the most serious of all diseases—and yet they can be cured.

Treatment should be taken just as soon as the earliest symptoms appear but even old cases can be helped and further damage to the system prevented by modern medical science.

The Public Health Institute was founded to give sufferers from these infections the benefit of the most advanced methods of treatment.

It is now giving nearly 1000 treatments daily and since its establishment over 4 years ago, has restored health to thousands of men, women and children who, without proper treatment, might have become permanently disabled.

The Institute maintains a staff of trained physicians and nurses, completely equipped laboratories, and every tested and approved facility for the correct diagnosis and treatment of venereal diseases. All this is at the service of patients at a cost which anybody can afford.

The fees are small and no patient pays more than another for the same treatment. No one in fact who needs the help of the Institute is turned away for lack of ready money.

Women and Children

A special department for women and children, with women as physicians and assisting as nurses and attendants, is located at 72 East Randolph Street. Every facility is provided here for effective treatment, and the utmost privacy with the highest degree of comfort is assured.

With such service as this available, no one who needs treatment should delay. "Social" diseases can be cured.

INDUSTRY IN CITY AND STATE MOVES SLOWLY UPWARD

Fewer Idle, More Jobs, U. S. Experts Report.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Signs of a gradual improvement in business conditions in Chicago and Illinois are noted in the monthly report of the United States employment service of the department of labor.

Relative to general conditions in Illinois the report says: "The steel industry is in a healthy condition, coal mining is increasing and will employ more miners, and corn husking to start soon will afford work to a number of men. The shortage of experienced heavy hands is not as acute as it was several weeks ago, but there is still a shortage felt. Road building continues on a fairly large scale, with no scarcity of help reported."

Chicago Conditions Good. Commenting on conditions in the Chicago industrial district, including Chicago and Chicago Heights, the report says:

"The packing plants, while not taking on any new help, are retaining their full quota of workers. A gradual improvement in employment conditions in the metal trades is reported. Building continues active and building permits for Chicago totaled $13,021,000 during the first half of October. A reduction was made to the force of an electrical manufacturing company which had been operating above normal. The plant is now down to normal, employing 30,000 workers. Employment increased in the textile plants during the last thirty days."

Labor Surplus at Gary. Regarding the Calumet industrial district in Indiana the report says:

"The supply of and demand for workers are pretty well balanced in this district with the possible exception of a small surplus of labor at Gary, where industries are working approximately 75 per cent of capacity. Employment conditions at Whiting are good. At East Chicago practically all plants are still on reduced operating schedules, but some improvement was noted during the last month."

FREEED IN $5,000 TREASURY. Joseph Mitchell, 21 years old, 2841 South Troy street, was discharged by Judge Edgar A. Jones in boys' court yesterday when Harold W. Williams, plumber, 2430 West 18th street, failed to present evidence supporting his charge that Mitchell had robbed him of $5,000 worth of plumbing supplies.

Cecil Roberts, Editor, to Talk to Medillians

Cecil Roberts, editor of the Nottingham Journal, will speak on "The New Press" before the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University, 31 West Lake street, tonight. The address will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The Nottingham Journal is the oldest newspaper in England and one of that nation's foremost molders of public opinion. Mr. Roberts, who is not yet thirty years of age, has won fame as a poet, a novelist, an essayist, and a reviewer of current affairs. The lecture is open to the public.

SEEK MISSING YOUNG MAN. The help of The Tribune has been asked in finding lad who left home on Nov. 1 to buy a newspaper and did not return. He is 20 years old.

FIT MOTOR INTO TRANSPORT PLAN, RAIL MAN URGES

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 12.—Action to place the motor vehicle on a footing as a common carrier in relation to other systems of transportation is necessary to solve the competition of the motor, John N. Shannahan, president of the American Electric Railway Association, declared before the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners today.

Urging coordination to avert competition between the motor vehicle and the street car in the larger cities, the speaker said that during the next few years "thousands of motor vehicle routes will be laid out and franchises applied for."

Mr. Shannahan advocated uniform legislation and declared the regulation of motor vehicle lines should be under supervision of the public utility commissions.

Maj. Alexander Forward, secretary-manager of the American Gas Association, predicted the time is coming when burning of raw coal will be prohibited by law, and fuel used for all heating and industrial uses will be gas.

IS COUNT ON WAY? COUNTESS Salm DOESN'T KNOW

New York, Nov. 12.—[Special.]—In the face of conflicting reports from Paris, the Countess Salm, through the secretary of her mother, Mrs. Henry H. Rogers, denied today any knowledge of the intentions of her husband, reported to be on his way here from Paris, and denied also that she planned to go to Paris to join him. The former Millicent Rogers is ill at the Rogers home.

According to one report, Count Salm planned to sail today to attend the christening of the son born to his wife recently.

Mrs. Rogers' secretary said that no word had been received by the countess indicating the count's intention of coming here, and that no plans have been made for the christening of the child. It also was said that no reconciliation was necessary, since there had never been any separation.

GOLD COAST WINS PARK BOARD BAN ON APARTMENTS

Property owners led by Arthur Meeker succeeded yesterday in defeating a petition before the Lincoln park board to permit erection of apartment buildings and hotels on Lake Shore drive between Diversey parkway and Belmont avenue. Other property owners asked the board to set aside an agreement adopted in 1904 restricting the district to residences.

The board also denied a petition to make Ohio street from Michigan avenue to the lake a boulevard. The board plans to widen the street by taking seven feet from each curb and resurfacing it.

Action on requests from several north side hotels for permits to continue operation of buses through the park was deferred. The board holds that the buses are not licensed to travel through the park system.

"The hair achieves an amazingly smooth and lustrous beauty when Stacomb is used. I wish every woman and girl could know what remarkable things this delicate cream can do."
Miss Rosalind Ackerman
(in the latest edition of the "England Follower")

"I never could keep my hair in place—now it looks better and healthier than ever before"

MEN and women everywhere are enthusiastic about this marvelous cream that keeps the hair so naturally smooth and neatly combed.

You used to put up with untidy hair because there was no satisfactory, safe way to control it. But now no one tolerates any untidiness in hair.

Now a safe way to keep your hair smooth, lustrous

Just a touch of Stacomb in the morning keeps the most unruly hair in place all day long without making it greasy like the ordinary pomades, or drying it the way water did.

This delicate cream is actually beneficial to the dry scalp so prevalent today. The healthful oils in Stacomb keep your scalp cleaner and healthier than ever before. It is just by giving your scalp the right amount and kind of oil it needs, that Stacomb keeps the hair so smooth and lustrous. Use it freely. Any skin specialist will tell you it cannot possibly harm the hair or scalp.

Stacomb now comes in two forms—the original light, velvety cream, and Liquid Stacomb. Both non-staining and non-greasy. At all drug or department stores.

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are:
At Newark, N. J., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—
Firpo (12); Johnny Fields knocked out Jack Townsend (11); Mike Ferraro knocked out Joe Lewis (10); Harold Mays and Joe Lewis, draw (10).

BY HARRY NEWMAN

Newark, N. J., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—
Luis Firpo, the South American, and the man who less than a year ago had Jack Dempsey on the verge of a knockout, got the taming of his young life at the hands of Charlie Weinert, veteran of many years' standing, in a twelve round bout at the First Regiment armory in Newark to-night.

To use the vernacular, Weinert made the South American look like a cub in nearly every step of the dozen rounds. Weinert, who is a clumsy fellow still, Firpo giving all sorts of wide openings, while Weinert plastered him to a rare-the-well.

Peppers Laid with Lefts.
Scarcely a round went to Firpo. One had to be real careful to say that he had an even advantage in any of the twelve rounds. Weinert, who is a clumsy fellow still, Firpo giving all sorts of wide openings, while Weinert plastered him to a rare-the-well.

Weinert made the damaged lip his target, and how he did keep that southern in Firpo's mouth. At the range boxing Weinert was the master. The old Yankee style of weaving in and sidestepping after a series of feints had Luis breaking his back trying to land a right straight American.

Weinert, veteran of thirteen years of ring endeavor and with a wonderful store of boxing knowledge and tricks when he elects to use them, entered the ring seeking revenge for a two round knockout he suffered at the hands of Firpo in Philadelphia fifteen months ago.

He got his revenge with sweet interest, for through twelve rounds, in which the suspense was always sustained because of the ever present probability of Firpo crashing home one of his justly celebrated rights to the jaw, Weinert outboxed, outgeneralized, and outmaneuvered the South American giant to the delight of the crowd.

Score One Handed Victory.
It was a one sided fight as fights go, yet it lacked nothing in the spectacular. Weinert, for the first time in years showing a flash of the Weiner who once promised to develop into a heavyweight champion, boxed his way to a hollow victory over the lumbering giant who knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring and carried through to victory despite a frenzied, furious attempt to score a knockout which Firpo carried through the closing three rounds.

Weinert scored his victory with one hand, in the parades of the ring. He "left handed Firpo to death." The Argentine heavyweight has never tasted as many left jabs, hooks, and slashes as Weinert inflicted upon him to-night.

Not alone did Firpo blow this bout tonight, but he is going to find it difficult to reestablish his prestige.

It was just a case of big, strong fellow like Firpo trying to land on an old timer who had just enough left to make the rough fellow look amateurish. Firpo weighed 212 pounds, while Weinert weighed 184.

Plenty of Knockouts.
First round knockouts featured the six round preliminaries when Johnny Fields, 121, disposed of Frank Ribates, 135, and Billy Prestich, England, 133, crushed Jack Townsend, Pittsburgh, 124. Mike Ferrara, 133, Firpo's sparring partner, kayaked Jack Showers, 175, local colored boy, in the second of a ten round affair. The semi-final was a tiresome draw between Harold Mays, 170, and Joe Lewis, 172, also in ten frames.

Promoters Would Match Winners of Wrestling Show
In order to determine the strongest possible opponent for Lou Talabar, the world's middleweight champion, who will be made to match the winners of the two bouts at the Star and Garter tomorrow night. In the main event Joe Parelli, the Italian, will meet Eddie Pope, claimant of the southern 125 pound title. In the other struggle Johnny Meyers, former middleweight champion, will meet "Denver Kid" Curley. Local promoters will try to arrange such a contest.

DECIDE TITLE SUNDAY.
The Southwestern Suburban football championship will be decided Sunday, when Clyde Gray and the Hawthorne Maroons clash at 54th and 51st.

SHEA FAVORITE IN BOUT WITH CHAMP

Eddie Shea, west side 135 pounder who meets Abe Atlas Goldstein, the world's bantamweight champion, in the windup of the boxing show at East Chicago tomorrow night, has been made favorite by local followers of the boxing game.

Those who wager on the results of such encounters say Eddie has everything to win and nothing to lose. They claim he will tear into the champion and pile up enough points to be returned the victor by a wide margin. Shea is in excellent condition, according to Manager Ray Alvis, who will take him east if he wins the popular decision.

Champion's Friends Confident.
Goldstein will finish training today at the Muller gymnasium. The champion is in fine shape, according to his manager, and needs but little work to fit him for the battle. Goldstein followers, who are covering all the Shea money, will want nothing better than to have Eddie tear it in. If he makes such a fight, Goldstein will pepper him with so many straight lefts there will be no question as to a winner, according to the champion's followers.

Amateurs Box Tonight.
Other fighters on the card will complete training today and leave for East Chicago tomorrow morning. All will make weight at 3 o'clock.

The bout between Jack London and Fernando Gonzales will feature the weekly amateur boxing show at Muller's gymnasium tonight. Among contestants in other bouts will be Young Firpo and Roy Williams, and Cal Gallo and Herb Heubert.

MORLAN IS BACK AFTER STUDYING FISH AND GAME

Dr. H. J. Morlan, president of the fishermen's club of Chicago and Illinois state president of the Isaak Walton League of America, has returned from a 25,000 mile trip through Canada and Europe in the interests of fish and game conservation.

Dr. Morlan, who is the former all-American champion fly and bait caster and one of the best known sportsmen among the anglers and hunters of America, has been away for five months and has made a careful study of the problems of rivers and forests, wild life, fish, and big game. He was accompanied by his wife and intends to deliver a series of lectures on his experiences and results of his study.

FULTON FIGHT DRAWS CROWD
Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—
Beats to the score of $5,000, have been sold to a four round boxing program at Culver City next Monday which will bring together Fred Fulton and Tony Tante, Los Angeles Mexican heavyweights.

OPALS TO PLAY SUNDAY.
The Opal A. A. gridders have been working hard this week to get in shape for their clash with the Opal B. A. at Central park, 55th and Foster avenue, Sunday. The Opals will be further strengthened by the battle by the return of "Big" O'Malley.

N. Y. FIGHT COMMISSION FROWNS ON PROPOSED GIBBONS-NORFOLK GO

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Richard's Little scheme of holding mixed matches in order to stage a revival of the fighting game in New York has already met with disapproval.

The New York boxing commission is reported to look with disfavor upon the Tom Gibbons-Kid Norfolk battle scheduled to take place at Madison Square garden on Dec. 3 as a Christmas fund benefit for the poor.

While no official statement is forthcoming, it is said that the commission considers it a poor match and would prefer to have Gibbons meet Gene Tunney.

WEST BODY SEEKS TO REOPEN KASKEY CASE

When the annual convention of the International Skating union is held in New York City Sunday, delegates from the western association will ask that the case of Moore, Donovan and Kaskey be reopened. These three skaters were accused of accepting exorbitant expense money, but only Kaskey was placed under the ban.

When the case was heard, Moore and Donovan were represented by legal talent while Kaskey was not. Kaskey was given a reprieve and permitted to compete, while Kaskey was placed in the outlaw class.

Harry Bern, chairman of the investigating committee in the Kaskey case, last night asserted that Moore and Donovan are just as guilty as Kaskey and if the easterners have been cleared on the charges then Kaskey should be permitted to compete this winter.

CODY AND MORAN TRIUMPH IN OPEN HANDBALL MEET

Featured by the victory of Jack Moran and Capt. Mike Cody over Dohen and Edward R. Litzinger in A class, 21-4, 21-19, and 21-4, the Chicago open handball tournament at the Aid Dog club and the Western French Bull Dog club, will hold a one day show at the First Regiment armory Sunday, Nov. 23. An exceptionally good lot of dogs will be bunched at this event, it is predicted.

In addition to the good specimens these clubs will have on the benches an effort is being made to bring out the best of the other non-sporting breeds and some of the sporting varieties.

The proceeds of the show will be devoted to charity. The management is concerned, therefore, only in giving a high class dog show and making a little money to give away.

Officers of the association are: A. F. Kramer, chairman; C. J. Caselman, first vice president; C. F. Low, second vice president; A. Henderson, secretary and treasurer.

Ryan and Jones May Lose Wisconsin Coaching Jobs

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—
With rumors prevalent about the campus that Jack Ryan, football coach, and T. E. Jones, athletic director, are about to be replaced, 300 University of Wisconsin letter men will gather here Friday to consider remedies for the present slump in athletics at the Badger school.

The meeting will precede the annual homecoming festivities Saturday, when the Badgers clash with Iowa. Many of the "W" men will be old grads back for the celebration, and it is understood that some radicals in this group will demand the removal of all present major coaches with the exception of Dr. Walter Manwala, basketball mentor.

Athletic Director Jones today denied a report that John Richards, former football coach, has been rehired to replace Ryan as head of the football squad. Richards' resignation was accepted two years ago after the lawyer-coach had failed to produce a winning eleven.

"I know nothing of such an arrangement," Jones declared, "and I refuse to comment about the present situation."

Discontent has grown rapidly this fall following defeats of the local eleven at the hands of Michigan and Notre Dame. A local paper states that both Ryan and Jones will be removed and a new grid coach will be hired at $10,000 a year. Dr. Manwala, according to this report, is being considered for the post of athletic director.

It is understood that Richards is on his way to Madison to aid Ryan in bolstering up the team for the clash with Chicago at Stagg field a week from Saturday.

Both Ryan and Jones said they knew nothing of the contemplated change.

MANY BREEDS TO BE EXHIBITED AT DOG SHOW HERE

The Western Specialty Club association, which includes the Chicago Bull Dog club, the Chicago Collie club, the Aid Dog club and the Western French Bull Dog club, will hold a one day show at the First Regiment armory Sunday, Nov. 23. An exceptionally good lot of dogs will be bunched at this event, it is predicted.

KING IS COMMODORE OF YACHTING CLUB AFTER HOT ELECTION

SAMUEL B. KING, vice commodore during the last year, has been elected commodore of the Jackson Park Yacht club. He defeated the present commodore, A. A. Bennett, and the rear commodore, "Hal" Redmon. Three tickets were in the field and the election was one of the most closely contested in the history of the club.

Commodore King and his defeated opponent, Redmon, both are known as strong racing men in Chicago yachting circles and are owners of the yachts Chaperon and Columbia, respectively.

Hot contests were staged for the lower club offices, as well, with "Bert" Williamson, owner of the Edith 17, and Edward Baker, well known as a yacht designer, named vice and rear commodores. The board of directors for the ensuing year will be made up of an entirely new group, although two of the present directors were again candidates. William J. Moore, chairman of the regatta committee; A. L. Putnam, and D. P. Ruger were elected.

J. F. Corcoran was elected secretary of the club and "Joe" Connell was re-elected treasurer.

AUGIE BREAKS EVEN AGAINST LOOKABAUGH

Boston, Mass., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—
Angie Kieckhefer, Chicago's representative in the national championship three cushion billiard league, today broke even in his matches with Earl Lookabaugh, the Boston player. The Chicagoan won in the afternoon, 50 to 27, in fifty-three innings, but lost the night match, 50 to 27, in sixty-two frames. Kieckhefer's high runs were 7 and 6; Lookabaugh's were 7 and 6.

WOODS' ILLNESS CAUSES DELAY IN CUE SERIES

Arthur Woods, who represents Syracuse in the National Pocket league, was stricken with appendicitis in Minneapolis yesterday and taken to a hospital. His six game series here with Erwin Rudolph at Mueser's room, which was to have started this afternoon, has been postponed indefinitely.

Stocklynd-De Wolfe to Ride in N. Y. Bike Race

New York, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—
Bicycle devotees will receive with acclaim the news that Harry Stocklynd and Maurice De Wolfe, the Belgian riders, who handed out many a thrill in his garden last season, have signed to ride in the coming six day race which starts at Madison Square Garden Nov. 29.

NATALIE AND HARMON DIVIDE

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—
Paule Natalie of St. Louis and Harmon, the local player, divided honors here today in a pair of National Pocket league billiard games. The visitor winning in the afternoon, 100 to 70, in 42 innings, and Harmon evening 100 to 51, in 35 frames. Natalie has had runs of 14 and 21, while Harmon registered 19 and 23.

ANDREWS STARTS COURT SUIT OVER BOXING MATCH

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12.—Alleging breach of contract, Tom Andrews, former matchmaker for the Arena Athletic club and a former stockholder in the Cream City Athletic club, has started suit to recover part share in the Goetsman-Sanger match boxed in January, 1924.

Andrews alleges that Frank Mulkern, matchmaker for the Cream City A. C., entered into an agreement whereby half the profits of the match would go to Andrews in return for releasing Goetsman from a contract which he held.

HOPE WILLING, NAY, ANXIOUS TO MEET CANNEFAX

New York, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—
Shortly after Willie Hoppe the billiard champion, proved to the billiard world that he had lost none of his skill at bill line by making 600 points in five innings against Albert G. Cutler at the Hoppe academy today, he took a few minutes to reply to Robert L. Cannefax, the world's three cushion champion.

Hoppe had received the Cannefax challenge, which was for a match to be played best six out of eleven fifty point blocks on a winner-take-all basis, with Hoppe to post a forfeit of $2,500.

A Reticent Condition.
He said he was ready to meet Cannefax's terms with the exception of one. That pertained to the block game. He characterized it as "a ridiculous condition," and that if the match was to be played it would have to be on a point-to-point basis, with a 400 point match favored. Hoppe said that he is ready to post the $2,500 forfeit, but Cannefax must post his $2,500 at the same time; that the match must be at least 600 points, with the post-game total to decide the winner.

Favors Winner Take All.
The winner take all plan is satisfactory to him, the purse to include the $2,500 forfeit, the money offered by the promoter of the match and the entire gate receipts. Hoppe says he will give Cannefax until Saturday to meet him—post his forfeit and settle on terms for the match. The time for playing this match would be most convenient for him during the first two weeks in January.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS

For the first time in the history of the billiard world, three cushion games were played last night. Shaller won 40 to 55 in 61 innings, making a winning run of 4. Manneaux had one of 5.

Kine was victor in night in nation's billiard line billiard tournament, when he defeated Porter (115), 150 to 114, in 90 innings. The winner made a high run of 14, while the loser could make no 6.

The three cushion home championship match at Foley's, 426 South Wabash, went to last night. The game lasted 63 innings. In the match game Mann beat Ross (50), 59 to 49, in 50 innings.

Chicago Billiard league three cushion game was played in the Sheridan Recreation room last night. Goldstein (42) beat Hawkins (40), 50 to 43, in 58 innings. Gold's high run was 4 and Sullivan had 6. The league game will be played tonight at the similar recreation room, between Heiberg (40), and Sorensen (42).

Playing in the three cushion home billiard tournament at Mueser's room, 10 West Jackson, last night, Goldstein (42) beat Hawkins (40), 50 to 43, in 58 innings. Gold's high run was 4 and Sullivan had 6. The league game will be played tonight at the similar recreation room, between Heiberg (40), and Sorensen (42).

N. D. TICKETS GONE

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Persons not already armed with tickets will find it useless to come here for the Nebraska game Saturday. Every available seat and all the standing room has been sold and no tickets will be sold on the campus prior to the game. Even students induced by enormous prices to give up their tickets have found ready sales and it is impossible to purchase the tickets second handed. The complete sell-out assures the presence of approximately 26,000 persons at the game.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL

With the western conference football season drawing to a successful close, no time will be lost to lay plans for another year, as an announcement was made yesterday by John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten, that the annual meeting of athletic directors and coaches of all some of the gridiron sports will be held at the Auditorium hotel on Dec. 5 and 6.

At this session, Griffith, the most important of the western conference, the football coaches will meet on the afternoon of Dec. 6 to arrange schedules for 1933. Just what changes will be made in the status of some of the teams is not known, but if certain eleven are met next season the dates may be changed somewhat.

Michigan Cards Navy

As Michigan has already scheduled a game with the Navy, this action may mean the dropping of one conference opponent or elimination of one of the Wolverines' early season foes.

This year's meeting is held a trifle later than usual in order to permit some of the gridiron coaches to witness the Army-Navy game in Baltimore on Nov. 28 and take in Thanksgiving day struggles, the most important of which will be the Pennsylvania-Cornell game at Philadelphia. The Quakers are undefeated so far this year and the mentors would undoubtedly like to see one of the best in the east in action.

Chicago's four year contract with Wisconsin expires this year and it is not known whether it will be renewed. The Badgers now have a stadium capable of taking care of their crowd and may prefer to arrange home and home struggles with Chicago. In fact, all institutions with the exception of Indiana and Northwestern, are equipped to take care of the crowds.

Make Baseball Schedule

Baseball coaches will gather during the two day session to arrange the spring schedules and the same is true of the track and field mentors and wrestling instructors. The basketball schedule has already been arranged, but a practice game will be played at Bartlett gymnasium on the night of Dec. 6 to illustrate for coaches and officials the proper methods to enforce the rules. Directors of intramural sports will also hold a session.

Faculty representatives of the conference will convene on Dec. 6, according to present plans. Just what business concerns this committee is not known, but it is expected to take some action on points which will be called to its attention as a result of the year's competition.

One of the features of the session will be a banquet on the night of Dec. 5 in which officials of the surrounding twelve states have been invited to attend.

Select Officials Later

The committee on the appointment of football officials will meet in January to make its selections. This committee is composed of Prof. Algier of Michigan, Prof. Long of Northwestern and Commissioner Griffith. This committee has deferred its appointments in order to give the coaches ample opportunity to arrange nonconference struggles.

Shattuck Cadets Beat

Lake Geneva by 40 to 0

Wauwatosa, Wis., Nov. 12.—Shattuck Military academy defeated Northwestern Military school of Lake Geneva, Wis., in a one-sided contest today, 40 to 0. The Shatts were superior in every department and clearly outplayed their opponents. Acher, full back, starred for Shattuck by his excellent line plunging.

CADETS CLASH SATURDAY

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT

EAR WAKE: Good grief! The way some of these kids at college argue back and forth concerning the prowess of their individual stars. Ask them this question: "How would those stars shine without the support of the other ten men?" It takes eleven men to make a football team.

After hearing the Chicago-Wisconsin score as a Wisconsin graduate, I take off my hat to Chicago and Stagg. Year in and year out they have the SMART-EST football team in the Conference. There is one thing we can depend on every season—that Stagg will surprise us again.

Seated near me at Stagg field last Saturday was an Illinois maiden whose sister apparently was a Maroon sympathizer. As Grange was down near the end of the game and it looked as if he might be injured, she shrieked, "O, I do hope Red isn't hurt, don't you?" No reply. "Don't you?" she demanded, fixing a cold gaze on her companion. "Well, I hope he isn't permanently injured," temporized the young man.

With further reference to the much discussed pinnacle on the Straus building, it is neither bird cage, bee hive, nor fish bowl. It is a banana stand. A dozen peals went out from it every once in a while last Tuesday night.

Wake to Make Speech

at Illini Club Luncheon

Harvey T. Woodruff, editor of "In the Wake of the News" in THE TRIBUNE, will talk on football today at the weekly luncheon of the Illini club of Chicago in the Ivory room of Mandel's.

ENTIRE GRIDIRON TEAM SICK; PLAYS ANYWAY

Ada, O., Nov. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—A gridiron battle in which a band of feverish young men, all recently vaccinated, made a valiant but vain effort to uphold the honor of their school, has just come to light here. That effort failed, however, is secondary, for the athletes' stanchness in entering the fray proved heroes still live in this knightless age.

The situation existed because the entire football squad at Ohio Northern university, together with seven other students, had been vaccinated the previous week by members of the Ohio state board of health following the discovery of a mild case of smallpox among the student body.

With a team of championship caliber it seemed to the medical and athletic authorities that there "just must be some way to keep our boys from working out like Man o' War among conference forwards. Marty Pokras, another guard, is no slouch and Bub Henderson and Capt. Franklin Gowdy at the tackles have distinguished themselves on various occasions.

N. U. POLISHES ATTACK

Line smashes of Austin McCarty and runs of Harry Thomas, Maroon backs, were emulated by Northwestern university freshman backs yesterday in a long scrimmage with the varsity. The Purple regulars were drilled against the style of play the Staggmen used against the Illini in a secret session.

While the scrimmage was held with the yearlings the crippled regulars watched the doings from a safe position. The subs were made to do the hard work.

A number of the cripples were in uniform yesterday and took part in a signal drill that unlimbered their hardened muscles.

Maroons Depend Upon Line to Stop Charges of Purple

The University of Chicago grid squad was split into two units for last night's drill, one consisting of the backs who will try their skill against Northwestern Saturday and the other made up of the linemen whose brilliant work this season has been largely responsible for the good showing the Maroons have made.

Most of the backfield men who have carried the ball for Chicago have received their full share of glory, but many of the noble attributes with which this year stands out like Man o' War among conference forwards. Marty Pokras, another guard, is no slouch and Bub Henderson and Capt. Franklin Gowdy at the tackles have distinguished themselves on various occasions.

20,000 TO SEE LANE DEFEND CITY TITLE

When Lane Tech and Lindblom line up Saturday at the new Grant Park stadium to decide the football championship of the City Public High School league, one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a prep grid battle will be on hand for this struggle.

Officials of the two contesting schools expect 20,000 fans to view the clash.

Lane Defends Title

Last year Lane, representing the north section, captured the city title along with the basketball championship. It is the intention of the south stars, coached by E. L. Moore, to break Lane's monopoly on championships.

Both eleven went through their sectional schedules with clean slates, though Lindblom was held to one tie. Lindblom's style of play is patterned after the attack of the Maroons, straight football with few variations, while Coach Faubel of Lane has perfected a forward passing offense interspersed with wide end runs.

Oak Park Meets Previews

Oak Park, on its way to another Suburban league crown, will close its season Saturday with Previews at Oak Park. Victory for Coach Winters' outfit will mean a second successive title, but a defeat would put Evanston, another strong eleven, back in the running.

Halas, Ex-Illini, to Be Coach at Haverford

Haverford, Pa., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—It has practically been decided that Walter H. Halas, former Illinois star, will be appointed basketball and baseball coach at Haverford college.

OHIO STATE

Columbus, O., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—For the second day in succession the freshmen went against Coach Wiley's Ohio State varsity today under Michigan play. Hard scrimmage was taboo, so the already burned-up squad of players would not be injured more. Workmanly house constructed platforms for standing room and field boxes to accommodate the vast overflow crowd that is expected Saturday.

MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—It was decided today, may be usable when the Wolverines line up against Ohio State at Columbus Saturday. Babcock, however, will not be available before the Iowa game. He is in condition even then. Polishing of plays continues behind closed gates.

WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Dummy scrimmages are largely taking the place of scrimmages in the Badgers' practice at Camp Randall this week, to avoid injuries which would be damaging to Wisconsin's chances against Iowa Saturday. Ryan worked the team against the All-Americans, who were under Iowa play.

ST. IGNATIUS HANGS UP 19-0 Win at Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—In a speedy game the St. Ignatius parochial school eleven of Chicago defeated the Gesù school aggregation of Milwaukee on the Marquette university campus this afternoon, 19 to 0. All of the Windy city youngsters' scores were made in the last half.

HUFF TO SEE N. DAME BATTLE CORNHUSKERS; WHY? FANS WONDER

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Why? That's the question asked here tonight following the discovery on a local hotel register of reservations for George Huff, director of athletics at the University of Illinois, for the coming week-end. Huff and a party of three will arrive Saturday morning by motor from Urbana, it was said at the hotel.

Here, where every Tom, Dick, and Harry is strong for Notre Dame and confident of victory over Nebraska Saturday, you will hear them whisper in the hotel lobbies that Illinois probably hasn't given up all hopes of a post-season game with Notre Dame. Others believe Huff is coming to see Rockne open his bag of tricks in an effort to snow under the Cornhuskers, in which event, they say, any football coach would get a liberal education in the fine arts of the gridiron game.

Or maybe, they add, Huff wants to see Rockne's back field of "Red" Grange.

The United States Census reports the average size of the American family is varying in different sections of the country from 4.1 to 5.1 persons. On the basis of an average of 4.5 persons per family, the 2,000,000 families living on McCall Street would total 9,000,000 people. The average size of the stadium noted above is 7,250 square feet per person. So that, in order to have a seating capacity of 10,000,000 people, the McCall Street Stadium would have to have an area of 13,600,000 square feet—its area covered by building the stadium 10,000 feet long and 7,500 feet wide.

If the 2,000,000 families to which McCall's Magazine is read all lived on a single street, a house every 24 feet—the house would line both sides of a roadway from Boston to San Diego.

Happiest Homes Are Those Which Keep Open House

BY DORIS BLAKE.

When I hear a man remarking that it is as much as his life is worth to suggest bringing a couple of his friends home from the office to dinner, I am reminded of the words of Madame de Staël, the French novelist, to a young girl who was about to be married: "Make your home a welcome rendezvous for your husband's friends and your children's playmates, and you will be rewarded by finding that you have dug a niche deep in the hearts of your children and of your husband."

To be sure, the woman who does her own work—and I think that according to statistics quoted in a current periodical over 92 per cent of American women do their own work—extra company for dinner, and company she does not know well, stands out in her mind as extra work and responsibility. Still, the work is often exaggerated unnecessarily. The friends one's husband wants entertained are usually men, and detached men, and men in general and detached men in particular are the most appreciative and the most untrifling of guests.

Furthermore, this I can't be bothered attitude on the part of the wife is a dangerous one. It is an easy matter for the husband to form the habit of shirking downtown with his friends. Nine times out of ten, he will agree that probably it is too much work for the wife, fussing over meals for his friends "with the kids and all." But in his heart there is a mental reservation that the wife might if she wanted to. And this reservation, like a tiny thorn in the flesh, bodes no good for future harmony. As the children grow up, they will be quick enough to follow dad's example, and seek their fun and their good times in homes which are open to them.

A striking contrast in results achieved by two women I know lies in the home of the one who has always kept open house to her husband's and children's friends and the home of another who lives near her and who always has insisted that company is "too much work" to be indulged in except on state and special occasions.

They are both women with large families, and the life of the one who has always been companion to her husband and the pit of her children is full of varied interests and pleasures. Her husband is always at home in the evening, and so are the children, and nights and Sundays are days of real enjoyment, for there are always young people around to give zest and sport to the occasion.

The life of the other woman—well, it can be told in one paragraph. She said to me the other day, "I certainly don't know what is happening to family life these days. My husband is never at home—always at the club, and the boys and the girls are forever gadding. It has always been this way, only now it seems to be worse. I'm alone most of the time." Keep your family around you. It's an excellent insurance against loneliness, even if it does cost a few extra steps.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Parents Are Right.

Dear Miss Blake: I am 15 years of age and am much in love with a fellow who in three years my senior. My parents are strict, and even though they do not know him, they forbid me to go with him. Heartbroken, my advice to you would be to heed your parents' instructions and try to avoid that habit, which so many girls your age seem to have, of falling in love—until such time as you have your parents' consent to go out with the boys, and know what it really means to be in love. You have plenty of time, dear.

Men's Fashions

Jazz Version of English Model.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Outfitting the English is now the aim and ambition of those who wear the less conservative clothing. The latest jazz model to be put upon the market has forsaken the old characteristics of the usual run of extreme clothes, and has drawn its inspiration from the popular English lounge suit which in its pure state is a favorite with the American well dressed man. But as with all jazz suits, every line is exaggerated.

The broad shoulders, wide, long lapels, slim hips and full trousers of the regular English lounge suit have been in this jazz version made just a little more so. The trousers practically trail in the dust, and are full enough for two pairs of ordinary trousers. However, even this exaggerated bit of clothing is an improvement over its predecessors in the jazz field, of which the pinched shoulders, short narrow lapels, barring hips, and long vest, and tight trousers, were in constant opposition to what the well dressed man was wearing. At least the suit which out Englishes the English is a step in the right direction, even if it is a pretty far step.

Identified.

One afternoon as one of the clerks and I were sitting in the office working on some books, I looked out one of the windows and saw the back of a woman just as she was coming into the building. I said to this clerk, "Did you see that bright green dress?" He said, "No, who has it?" I said, "I don't know. I just saw her back as she was coming into the court house but it must be a queer one, judging by the dress." At that moment, I walked his wife at the front door of our office with the bright green dress on. I said, "O goodness, it is your wife. Don't you tell her." But he told her, as it amused him, and I felt pretty cheap. W. W.

"See a Pin."

I had the habit of picking up pins from the street or sidewalk. One day when crossing a boulevard I saw a pin. I bent to pick it up. It was stuck in the far so deep that I had a difficult time getting it out. It was just in the middle of the boulevard when I was doing my act. I was not even paying any attention to what was going on, and when I looked up, found I was surrounded by automobiles blowing their horns and people laughing and smiling. I never in my life felt so embarrassed. J. J. P.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Onion Dressing.

Because of the frequent unloveliness and general unattractiveness of dressings, one may reasonably suggest that the cook who does not understand them will "begin now to practice up" daily to discover a filling she would like for her turkey. A study of dressings shows they are nearly all prepared in the frying pan and that some of them get no farther than that—that is, they are entirely cooked in it and only added to a roasted chicken or something of the sort when it is served. When a chicken is not roasted this is a good thing to do—if it is done right, wonderfully well seasoned and bright and clear, not dull.

A dressing made may be tested out by stuffing pork chops with it, which may be made as good looking a thing as stuffed crab. Chop, leaving even thicknesses, the chop in toward the bone to make a place to fill, season, fill with dressing, skewer this in with the inexpensive small skewers—not toothpicks, which may flavor—roast on a slight bed of vegetables with frequent basting. Start with butter and then use liquid in pan which consists of butter, vegetable juices, and juice from the meat. Roast for half an hour in a hot oven with ten minute basting.

For stuffing: Cut two onions fine and sauté them in a tablespoon of butter without browning them. Add to them an equal quantity of bread soaked in warm water and squeezed dry. Season with one-half teaspoon each of sage and salt and a little pepper and nutmeg.

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address: Bright Sayings to Auntie Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

I had taken Billy, my neighbor's child, down town with me and he had been quite naughty. He wanted everything he saw, and wouldn't go in the stores with me. I told him I wouldn't take him again. After we had been home some time he came over into our yard again, and I said, "Billy, did you tell your mother how naughty you were?" "No," he answered brightly, "I did told her what was pretty in the windows and who I see'd and fings like her."

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
TERESA: TRY AN EYEWASH OF salt water—just enough salt in the water to make it taste like tears. It is an excellent thing for the eyes to apply a wash cloth which has been wrung out in warm water to the eyes after you wash up at night. Let it rest on the closed eyelids for a minute or two. This relaxes the muscles of the eyes from their set position of the day.

GERTRUDE: THE TEXTURE OF the skin of the face depends greatly upon the size of the pores. If the skin is of fine texture, the pores are not observable. The size of the fat glands and their pores vary in different individuals, just as there is a variety in the coarseness and quantity of the hair. This is why some persons suffer from blackheads while others are never troubled. Send me stamped, addressed envelope for my pamphlet on care of the complexion, which will tell you how to rid yourself of blackheads.

Of all known drugs, Croemulsion is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Croemulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Croemulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, croup, whooping cough, and other forms of throat and lung diseases. It is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, or matter of new lung standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist for Croemulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Advt.)

Society Matrons Make Success of Girl Scout Drive

BY PANDORA.

Put three hustlers like Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, Mrs. Lester Armour and Mrs. Jacob Baur at the head of an organization and a campaign for funds and you'll find that success is bound to be the result—success with a capital S.

So it wasn't a surprise to learn yesterday that the Girl Scout campaign, launched a week ago today, for the year budget of the Chicago and Cook county chapter, dating from November, 1924, to November, 1925, is bringing joy to the hearts of the committee in charge. Mrs. Rosenwald, president of the local organization, and second vice president of the national association, isn't ready to announce the exact amount achieved so far, but we know the industrious workers are smiling with glee at what their efforts have accomplished.

At a luncheon yesterday given for captains and commanders, at the Drake Hotel, Mrs. Rosenwald and Mrs. Baur were guests of the hour, and I told the two last named spoke earnestly and well in behalf of the movement. And a few of the largest amount raised were announced: Mrs. Irving L. Stern and Mrs. Sidney Adler reported more than $7,000 each; Mrs. A. G. Becker and Mrs. Armand P. Deutsch reported more than $3,000 apiece; and Mrs. Nathan S. Davis III turning in more than $1,500.

Elizabeth Baker, Chicago and Cook county commissioner for the Girl Scouts, and energetic captain, with $5400 as her report, tells me that the annual board meeting of the local organization will be held this morning at 10:30 in the Scout headquarters at 188 North Michigan avenue. Mrs. Baker, who has been devoting practically all of her time of late to Girl Scout activities, with many convincing talks a week over the radio on the fund campaign, is going east today when the important meeting is finished, to enjoy a bit of real relaxation from her many duties. With Marion Farnsworth she will visit friends in New York, and attend the thrilling Yale-Princeton and Yale-Harvard football games.

Day's News in Society
Miss Frances Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson of Evanston, has chosen her wedding party for her wedding on Jan. 3 to Ronald Peck Boardman of New York City. It will include Miss Arla Avery of Evanston as maid of honor and, for bridesmaids, Miss Katherine Carroll, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, Miss Margaret McMillan, Miss Frances and Miss Harriet Lowden, Miss Minna Bradford, and Miss Dorothy Lament.

Miss Eleanor Lee Harriman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl E. Harriman of 1210 Astor street, will make her debut at a tea at the residence of her parents on Saturday, Nov. 23, during her Thanksgiving holiday from Connecticut college.

The first of the Thursday morning reading class meetings will take place this morning at the residence of Mrs. Thomas E. Lyon of 1415 Astor street.

Miss Hester White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Edgar White of 10 Scott street, is to be today's debutante, assisting her to receive will be Miss Martha Morse, Miss Sarane Otis, Miss Dorothy Curtis, Miss Heloise Requa, Miss Louise "Miss" Delaney, Miss Smith, and Miss Loretta Hines. With Mrs. White will be Mrs. Marvin Spencer (Gertrude White), Mrs. Robert Hunter, Mrs. Arthur Cutler, Mrs. George Richardson, and Mrs. William C. Jackson.

Mrs. James W. Morrison has issued invitations for a tea at her residence at 1431 State parkway this afternoon. Miss Margaret Otis of 2033 Prairie avenue will give a luncheon at 1 o'clock today at the Woman's Athletic club for Miss Sarane Otis and Miss Sarah Brewster.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Philip Swift will give a dinner dance and reception at the opera club this evening for Miss Emily Hoyt, Mrs. Swift's sister.

Mrs. George Halleck Taylor of 59 East Division street has returned from a sojourn of many weeks in the east. On her return motor trip Mrs. Taylor miraculously escaped harm when the car in which she was riding was struck by an interurban car.

Mrs. Bruce Borland of 1435 Astor street has departed for the east to attend some of the eastern college football games.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ennis have moved from their residence at 39 East Superior street and are now at the Ambassador hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Durbin of 1445 Astor street have to their house guests Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Craig of London.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucius P. Ordway of Lake Forest have visiting them Mrs. Ordway's sister, Miss Katherine Ordway, who is en route from a trip abroad for St. Paul, where she resides.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lihns and their daughter, Miss Anita Lihns, are making a stay at Virginia Hot Springs.

MARRIED

MRS. JOSEPH BATES HALL.
(Melvin Photo.)

Announcement is made of the marriage on Oct. 20 of Miss Mildred Eastburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Wessel, to Joseph Bates Hall. On their return from a wedding trip in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Hall will reside at 7703 Kingston avenue.

Regains Sight, First Act Is to Donate to Radio Fund for Blind

After using strong glasses for nearly twenty years in a brave fight to prevent total blindness, "A Tribune Reader," as she tells in her letter, suddenly regained her sight last week. Then her first act was to pick up a copy of this Tribune. She says, in a note containing $1 for the Radio Fund for the Blind, "I read about the North Side Doll Sewing club collecting for the Radio Fund for the Blind. It certainly is a fine work, and I am enclosing my mite to help give to each blind person a radio set."

A man whose name is a breakfast table word sends a check for $100 with the positive injunction that his name is not to be published. He is moved by the spirit that will not let the left hand know what the right hand does.

It seems certain now that the drive to raise funds to place in the home of every needy blind person a radio set will succeed. In this enterprise this Tribune is cooperating with the American Foundation for the Blind and the American Radio association.

Out of Town Guests Are Seen in Numbers in Boxes at Opera

Gaining wider and wider vogue seems to be the custom of entertaining out of town guests at Chicago's grand opera, an acknowledgment of one of Chicago's greatest advantages. Last evening's audience for the favorite "Samson and Delilah" included many unfamiliar faces.

Occupying the Lester Armour box were Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, with Mrs. Armour's sister, Mrs. Charles Wells of New Orleans. Charles E. Cutting had among his guests John L. Gray of Greenwich, Conn., as well as some Chicagoans, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sidney, and Mrs. Oakley E. Brown.

Miss Louise Burke of Montreal, Ont., was with Dr. and Mrs. William Ludwig Baum, who had with them also Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Polson and George E. Skinner. With Col. and Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin was their guest, Mrs. Beth Barton French, and also Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson and Richard Henry Little.

In the lower horseshoe sat Mrs. Morris L. Johnston in the Charles B. Pike box, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hibbard, and Harold F. McCormick as her guests. In the adjoining box was Mrs. C. Morse Ely, who had with her Mr. and Mrs. William R. Odell, Mr. George B. Magoun, and Col. George Vosvoldsky.

With Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenwald were Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Arnett, Mr. Alfred Grunfeld, and Judge Henry Horner.

With Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick were Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick and Edwin Krenn. Mr. and Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter had with them Miss Mary Meeker, Miss Alice Carpenter, Arthur Meeker Jr., and Lawrence Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Strobel, Mrs. Samuel Inaull, and William McCluer were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Howard. With Mr. and Mrs. George Seaman were Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rutledge and Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Atwill.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Carr were Dr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hodgkins, and Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hodgkins.

The Alliance Francaise Tea, at its guests at tea at 6 o'clock this afternoon, Miss Eva Le Gallienne. Miss Olga Mann will sing a group of French songs, and Mrs. Mollie Dreyfus and Mrs. B. L. Kopenhagen will pour.

Chicago's Only Perfume Salon

Renee Has No Clerks
Among the contributing factors which make Renee the most distinctive shop in Chicago is the fact that everyone connected with its personnel staff is a stockholder. As stockholders our attendants realize that the success of the enterprise depends upon the measure of service given.

Our attendants have been thoroughly trained in the art of beauty aids and are pleased to sell you what is best for your particular needs rather than merchandise upon which the greatest amount of profit is to be made. Our service is based upon years of knowledge and experience which removes us from the ranks of ordinary money-grabbers.

Renee renders a personal service in which no thought of compulsion prevails. Our attitude is one of courteous attention regardless of whether or not you make a purchase.

Petite French Compartments have been created solely for your benefit; here you may choose your requirements in privacy or find rest from the noise and hubbub of a great city.

Renee offers a truly Parisian atmosphere with a real Parisian to serve you.

We know that our policies are appreciated because of the tremendous increase in our volume of business. We extend a cordial welcome to those who have not yet visited our Salon and invite their inspection.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.
Expectant Mother's Needs.

"Can some of your generous readers donate a few things to make a young, expectant mother more comfortable? She has been married just a year and she, and her husband have not been able to get ahead at all because of doctor's and doctor bills. Both need clothing—she 35—and she has little or nothing for the expected one. They need coal and cannot buy it. She is very hard and never complains, but I feel I must write to you for some assistance for them."

GOOPS!

A Daily Lesson in Manners for Children
BY GLETT BURGESS
(Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.)

FIDGETING WHEN DRESSING

Mother finds it most distressing if you fidget when you're dressing. If you fidget, if you fret, if you fuss she is upset. Goops like that are so much bother. That they ought to dress each other!

NOTE—If you know any Goop faults you want corrected, drop a note to Mr. Gleett Burgess, care of this paper, and perhaps he will draw a picture and write a verse about it.

Child's Safety Week
Observance of Child's Safety week under the auspices of the Illinois Automobile club has been postponed from Nov. 22 to Dec. 13. Inability of the printers to supply enough of the colored drawing books depicting accidents, which the club will use to get the safety idea home to the children of Chicago, necessitated the postponement.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY
Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—The retiring military attaché of the Japanese embassy and Mrs. Haraguchi gave a dinner this evening in compliment to Lieut. Col. Noburu Morita, who will succeed Gen. Haraguchi.

Mrs. E. Bennett, who went to White Sulphur Springs with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, had with him at luncheon today at the Casino Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McDonald of Chicago and Miss Helen Trotter of New York.

Back Comes the Cape Into Fashion's Landscape
by Corinne Low
NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Again we are putting the cape in fashion's landscape. In spite of the fact that this has been called a coat year, the cape registers strongly. Although its appearance is more frequent in the field of sports, it is sponsored both for daytime and evening wear.

The model we are showing today is a charming example of the cape for afternoon. Obviously its inspiration is the directoire mode, topped as it is with postillion cape over the shoulders. Duvetyn of ox blood shade fashions the wrap, the platinum knit fox is used for collar and trimming.

How skillfully the cape lends itself to the sports costume is an old story. Yet present day interpretations of this theme offer much of interest. At one of the recent fashionable shows a striking outfit made use of a cape instead of a dress for an ensemble costume. The dress was of plain in soft colors, and the cape of matching fabric in one solid tone of the shade.

Every collection of evening wraps includes capes luxuriously trimmed in fur. Moreover, the influence of this mode is apparent in the wide, cape-like sleeves which characterize many of the stunning coats designed for opera and ball. A lovely example of the evening cape was developed in orchid colored velvet with contrasting lining. Made with a deep yoke, it was finished with a rolling collar of chinchilla.

For afternoon wear we have several examples of the cape worn by Paris designers. If it is made entirely of fur, the wrap will be collared and trimmed with another fur. Mole skin wraps are strangled for such models.

Card Party, Dance
to Aid Altar Fund
A card party and dance to raise funds for the high altar of the new St. Mary's church, now being erected at Broadway and Catalpa streets, will be staged next Wednesday evening in the banquet room of the Edgewater Beach hotel. Bridge, five hundred, euchre, and buncos will be played. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Oriole orchestra. Mrs. Thomas J. Webb is chairman of arrangements for the party, which promises to be one of the largest ever given by the parish. The following are assisting: Secretary, Mrs. George E. Burns; treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Ford; prizes, Mrs. Joseph E. Walbe; cards, Mrs. Joseph E. Walbe; dancing, Mrs. W. J. Ford and Mrs. R. J. Healy; buncos, Mrs. Mary E. Myers; advertising, Helen Flynn.

WAVE OF BUYING ADVANCES CORN PRICES AT CLOSE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A heavily overbought condition was disclosed in the grain markets at the start and wheat opened 1/32c lower, in sympathy with a decline in Liverpool and Winnipeg over the holiday. Opening prices, however, proved to be the lowest of the day, and toward the last a wave of buying swept over the corn market and advanced values around 4c from the bottom and the finish was at the top. Strength in corn had considerable influence on other grain. At the close wheat was 1/32c lower, corn 1/32c higher, oats 1/32c lower to 1/32c higher, and rye unchanged to 1/32c lower.

Aside from the break in Liverpool and Winnipeg, which was due more to the technical position than anything else, there was little in the news that attracted attention. Rains fell in southern Argentina, which will be beneficial to the new wheat and oats crops, but were offset by further rain and hail storms in Australia, where dry weather is now badly needed.

December Wheat Weakens. Longs in December gradually are liquidating and restraining by purchases of May, and as the bulk of the new speculative interest is going into the May, the nearby delivery dropped to 1/32c under at the last, the widest difference on the crop.

Homeas with eastern connections were good buyers of wheat futures here on the early break and absorbed the surplus in the pit, making the late rally easily attained. December touched $1.40 at the opening and was $1.40 1/2 at the close, with May at $1.35 1/2 at 11:55 a.m. Export demand was slow, with sales in all positions estimated at $90,000 bu. Basis on Duluth spring, a. f. Buffalo, was $1.25 at 2:45 over Chicago.

May Trade in Corn. Increased speculative buying of corn, based to some extent on the development of a good export demand from Europe, carried prices up sharply after a break of 1/32c early, the finish being at the top, with December at $1.15 1/2 at 11:55 a.m. May at $1.17 1/2 at 11:55 a.m. December touched $1.15 at the opening, Germany took 25,000 bu cash corn at the seaboard and there were requests for overnight offers from the country.

Exporters After Rye. Aggressive buying of rye developed toward the last and in sympathy with corn a strong rally came in that grain. While the seaboard failed to report any sales made abroad, there were indications of a good business having been put through. Packers were fair sellers of lard and the market was somewhat unsettled, closing 2 1/2c lower to 7 1/2c higher, the latter on May. Ribs were dull and unchanged, with bellies 10c higher to 15c lower. Packing hogs in the west for the winter season to date, as compared with the Price Current-Grain Reporter, is 1,510,000, against 1,625,000 last year. Prices follow:

REDUCE CANADIAN CROPS

Canadian government crop report for November, given to the trade late yesterday, reduced the estimated yield of wheat in all provinces 20,000,000 bu. as compared with the preliminary returns in September. Oats crop was reduced 10,000,000 bu. Total of all wheat this year is 272,000,000 bu. against 474,000,000 bu. harvested last year; oats, 231,000,000 bu. against 584,000,000 bu. in 1923; barley, 84,000,000 bu. against 77,000,000 bu. last year; and rye, 13,000,000 bu. against 23,000,000 bu. last year. Crop in the three Northwestern provinces compares as follows:

Grain	Nov. 1924	Nov. 1923	Nov. 1922
Wheat	245,000,000	267,000,000	452,000,000

The illustration is a black and white line drawing divided into several vertical panels. From left to right:

- A vintage automobile parked on a rocky shore.
- A sailboat on the water with a person standing on the shore looking out at it.
- A large, multi-story house with a chimney, surrounded by trees and a garden. A person is sitting on a bench in front of it.
- A person sitting on a lawn, reading a newspaper or magazine.
- A cityscape with buildings and a street scene.

The effectiveness of The Chicago Tribune as a medium for the sale of used cars is attested by the fact that, during the first six months of 1924, it ran 54,669 individual Auto Want Ads.

During this same period the classification known as "Musical Instruments" ran 6,871 individual Want Ads.

Although Vacant Property is only one subdivision of the great classification "Real Estate—For Sale," it carried 13,129 Want Ads.

The classification "Apartments—To Rent," during the first six months of this year, carried 61,607 separate Want Ads.

This small, but useful classification, during the same six months, carried 4,571 Want Ads.

Think of the enormous number of real estate sales presented by the 18,789 Want Ads in the "Houses—For Sale" classification.

This infant classification shows 1,490 Want Ads.

BUSINESS is forever looking for new and more efficient ways in which to perform the world's work, and when it finds a short cut in production or distribution, hundreds of thousands of people profit through greater economy, greater convenience or greater usefulness. That is service.

The Want Ad Section of The Chicago Tribune is an economic short cut by means of which thousands of people are enabled to get in touch with buyers or sellers of commodities more quickly and more cheaply than they could by any other known method. Its motto might well be "I Serve."

The Want Ad Section of The Tribune as a medium, is untiring in its efforts to bring prospects to your door; it is clock-like in its regularity; it is speedy in forming new contacts, and it is far-reaching in its power of distribution. There are no barriers to its contact with great multitudes of buyers in the city's three million people.

If you want to sell a house or an automobile, a radio or furniture; or if you want to hire help, remember that The Tribune will deliver your message to millions of readers in the great Chicago Territory. Phone Central 0100, and ask for an "Adtaker."

WALL STREET STILL A BOILING SEA OF TRADERS

YESTERDAY'S AVERAGES

High. Low. Last. Change
25 railroads..... 74.44 74.11 74.00 - .33
35 industrials..... 124.20 122.24 123.25 + .05
50 stocks..... 20.31 20.17 20.25 + .08

New York, Nov. 12.—[Special.]—In a turnover of stocks which has been unprecedented only once this year, the boiling Wall street market continued today. The average of stocks sold at a higher price than had been reached since Nov. 22, 1916, and the total turnover for the day aggregated 3,303,435 shares, exceeded only by the trading in last Friday's market.

There were evidences of profit taking all along the line, not only in the stock market but in grains and in the foreign exchange market as well. Nevertheless, the outside orders, brought into the financial district by the excited markets of the last few days, were evidently sufficient in volume to offset the selling which took place, and despite the heavy selling which occurred in most stocks on the list the market closed the day with a fractional net advance.

Early Avalanche of Buying.
New high prices for the year were established at the market's opening this morning, when a veritable avalanche of orders for stocks swept down on Wall street. These orders, most of them executed "at the market," carried the majority of railroad and industrial issues to the highest prices at which they have sold in eight years. During this early morning period of excited trading, a total of fifty-nine issues which are listed on the New York stock exchange established new high prices for the year and these included not only the representative trunk line railroad systems, but many of the small non-dividend paying railroad shares as well and some of the industrial issues which are not particularly well known.

Plenty of Liquidating.
The keynote of the day's markets appeared to be profit taking. Many of those who had purchased stocks prior to the election and many of those who had accumulated stocks during the humdrum days of the summer were not only willing but anxious to sell. The market, in the opinion of Wall street observers, took this liquidation very well and closed the day at a higher price for the majority of stocks than that at which it had started.

One feature of today's market was the sharp runup of a number of particular issues. St. Louis and San Francisco, for instance, gained 5 points at the opening. United States Cast Iron Pipe was the feature of the late trading and closed the day with a gain of more than 13 points. Despite the fact that many warning signals have been given to the market during the last few days, there appears to be no letup in the demand for securities from outside sources, and it is actually this, outside demand, which is keeping the market on its feet and which accounts for the fact that today marked the seventh consecutive million share day on the market and the second largest in total transactions since the election.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter markets, while somewhat inactive, were generally firmer, with Chicago unchanged to 1c higher. Butter, Boston unchanged to 1c higher, and Philadelphia generally unchanged. Demand for cheese was somewhat more active and the market was firm.

Fresh eggs advanced 1c. Receipts were 3,242 cases. Sales of 187 cases of refrigerator standards for December delivery were made at 35¢/dozen.

Heavy hams advanced 1c and spring chickens, while other poultry was unchanged. Receipts were 7 cars and 1,620 coops. Potatoes were unchanged to 5c higher, the latter for better quality stock. Receipts were 60 cars, with 357 cars on team track.

Previous year. 1,884,884

Chicago stocks resumed activities yesterday with strong markets. U. S. Government securities advanced in anticipation of the declaration of a stock dividend in addition to the regular cash payment, but receded, closing at 125, a net gain of a point. Cudahy was a feature in the packing shares, jumping 4 points to 74 and Pines Winterfront advanced 3 points to 53. Montgomery Ward reflected better earnings for the mail order concerns along with Sears-Robinson which advanced 1/2 in New York, and closed with a net gain of 2 points to 48 1/2. General was a point. Kraft Cheese and Real Silk Hosiery were 3/4 higher each and United Carbide signed 1/2. Declines were Stewart-Warner, a point, Universal Theaters Concessions and Libby, 1/2 each; Swift International 1/2, and Basic-Alumite and Yellow Manufacturing, 1/2 each. Hupp Motor and Hurley Machine closed unchanged. On small sales, South Fisheries preferred jumped 4 points to 35, Crane common made a new high at 45, a net gain of 4 points. U. S. GYPSUM CO. PLAYS SANTA TO STOCKHOLDERS

BY O. A. MATHER.

Continuation of the building boom has brought record profits to the United States Gypsum company this year. So the directors yesterday announced another Christmas present to the stockholders.

First a 25 per cent stock dividend was declared, then an extra cash dividend of 15¢ a share, and finally, the regular dividend was doubled. The common stock of $20 per share, has been paying a 4 per cent, or 80 cents annually. The new dividend rate is $1.00, or 5 per cent. The stock and extra cash dividend and a quarterly dividend of 40 cents are payable Dec. 31 to common stockholders of record Dec. 1. The shares sold yesterday between 115 and 140, compared with 90 several months ago.

Steel Industry Improves.

Continued and deliberate improvement in the steel industry continues. The United States Steel corporation is operating around 90 per cent of capacity, an increase of 3 per cent in the last week and the highest point for several months. "The election result has stimulated the iron and steel markets," the Iron Age says. "No rush of buying was looked for so far came, but there is greater activity and it is expected that the Chicago district than elsewhere. In pig iron the movement, well under way before Nov. 4, has broadened and total sales are put at $60,000,000."

Cheerful Oil News.

The oil and textile industries also afforded cheerful news. The wholesale price of gasoline was marked up a quarter of a cent a gallon in New York and Philadelphia, making the third advance of equal amount in the last fortnight. Believe crude oil was raised 65 cents a barrel to $1.25. Another decline of 2.25 cents a barrel in crude oil production was reported.

The American Sugar Refining company announced its entire plant, the largest in the cotton textile industry, again will be operated at capacity as soon as the various units can be prepared. For the last four months only a few departments have been operated and these only three days a week.

Sugar Merger Considered.

News and rumors of merger again blossomed yesterday. President Earl D. Rabet stated the American Sugar Refining company is discussing a tentative offer for the property of the National Sugar Refining company, in which the American company owns a one-fourth interest. The Firestone Tire and Rubber company announced purchase of the Stamford Cotton Mills and a new corporation, the Firestone Cotton Mills, will be capitalized at $5,000,000.

It was reported that negotiations are under way for a merger of the Ray Consolidated and the Inspiration Consolidated Copper companies. Early this year Ray Consolidated took over the Inspiration Copper company through an exchange of stock.

General Motors Aids Employees.

The General Motors corporation announced an employee-ownership plan. Employees may subscribe to 10 per cent preferred stock at $20 in amounts from one to ten shares, based on wages. Payment may be made at $9 a share per month. To induce subscribers to remain in the service, an extra $2 a share will be paid for five years.

The Continental Can company offered additional common stock to both common and preferred stockholders to the extent of 15 per cent of holdings on Nov. 24. The price will be $24 a share, compared with yesterday's market quotation of 25¢.

Former Office Boy Now Heads Insurance Co.

New York, Nov. 12.—An office boy 25 years ago, Ernest Starn, today is the new chairman of the board of directors of the American Eagle, the Continental and the Fidelity-Phenix Insurance companies. Mr. Starn went into the employ of the Continental company in 1882 and rose to the position of vice president and secretary of the allied companies before assuming his present office. As chairman of the board, he succeeds the late Henry Evans, who also started as an office boy.

A PERMANENT INSTITUTION

The reason for buying used Cadillacs from Cadillac.

Five years, ten years from now the Chicago Cadillac organization will be just as vitally interested in the Cadillac on the street as it is today.

Consequently, to protect its reputation and enlarge its business, the Cadillac Chicago Branch must be concerned in the welfare of all Cadillac motor cars sold in Chicago all the time.

It must sell its used Cadillacs with the same scrupulous care that it has in the past. The prices must be fair. The cars must be in the condition represented. Every buyer must receive full value for his money.

From no other source can the buyer of used Cadillacs receive such a guarantee of protection for his investment and active interest in his car.

We invite you to visit our Used Car Department and to inspect our Cadillac Maintenance Dept. You will be pleasantly surprised at the values offered. A visit incurs no obligation.
